[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, April 11.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World's Manila cable says that Gen. Lawton has taken the towns of Lumban and Pagsajan. While it is probable that there is an end to the big engagements in the Philippines between the Americans and Filipinos, the war is not at en by any means. It is the universal opinion among army men here that it will require the presence of fifty thousand American troops to occupy the territory that has been taken to keep open communication mong the islands.

Gen. Lawton's advance promises to meet with harassing resistance. Trenches are built by the enemy from town to town. On all sides the rebels are in nightly communication by means of signal fires They avoid being caught in a trap and are quick to harass the flank.

Rebels Who Made the Attack Were Playing Role of Friends.

MANILA, April 11, 5:50 p. m.-[By Manila Cable.] It is supposed that many of the rebels who attacked Gen. MacArthur's line of communication and who were repulsed by the troops commanded by Gen. Wheaton, were natives who entered the region in the guise of friendliness. They had seemingly secreted arms in several places and fired or the Americans from the bushes at so close a range that they could be heard talking. One of the Filipinos yelled in English: "We will give you damned Americans enough of this before we are through."

WASHINGTON, April 11.-The contween the United States and Spain since April 21, 1898, terminated today when the last formalities in the restoration of peace were performed by the exchange of ratifications of the peace Coincident with this. Presitreaty. dent McKintey issued his proclamation declaring that the war was at an end and the appointment Storer was determined upon as United States Minister to Spain.

The principal ceremony of the day occurred in the reception room at the White House, when the exchange of ratifications took place at 3 o'clock. In navigation and commerce, suitable to anticipation of the historic character of the event many members of the Cabinet and officials prominent in the administration gathered at the White House. These included Secretaries Hay, Wilson and Hitchcock, Senator Davis, one of the peace commissioners who negotiated the treaty; Assistant Secretaries Hill, Adee and Cridler of the State Department, Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn, Adjt.-Gen. Corbin. Solicitor-General Richards, Hon. Wayne MacVeagh and Sidney Smith, chief of the Bureau of Diplomatic Correspondence. State Department, who had prepared the American copy of the treaty. Shortly before 3 o'clock the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, arrived, in company with M. Thiebaut, the first secretary of the Embassy, the latter bearing the Spanish copy of the peace treaty. # The Critical Contention in State's Case.

Are the People's Bank Books Competent Testimony?

Upon That Point Hinges the Whole Matter Now.

Ex-Senator is Putting Up a Hard Fight, Retaining the Ablest of Lawyers—All-Important Decision Looked for Today.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PHILADELPHIA, April 11 .- In the rial of ex-Senator Quay today his lawyers began what is regarded as the all-important contention in their fight for his acquittal, namely, that the books of the broken People's Bank are not competent testimony against the accused man and therefore should not be admitted in evidence. On the decision of this point rests the entire fabric of the prosecution's case. Should Judge Biddle decide the point well taken, the commonwealth's necessarily collapse.

In order to secure the most effective resentation of this phase of the dense. Quay brought to his aid the skill f David K. Watson of Pittsburgh, one of the ablest attorneys in Pennsylania and ranking, in fact, with the est of the country. Watson spoke on this subject for nearly two hours this afternoon, and had the almost breathless attention of a room filled with the legal lights of the local and State bar. Many of these lawyers expressed the opinion that Watson made a very strong argument. What its effect will be upon the judge remains to be seen. The District Attorney opened the pro-ceedings in this phase of the case by offering in evidence the books of the bank, extending over a number of years and along ith them the account books, letter-press book and letters from Senator Quay and State Treasurer Haywood, found in the desk of Cashier Hopkins after that official had mmitted suicide. He read a long summary of what the books and papers showed, and stated what he expected to prove by them, to wit: That, through a conspiracy with Cashier Hopkins, State Treasurer Haywood and ther State treasurers and possibly other officials of the bank, ex-Senaor Quay used a fixed amount of State money deposited in the institution and received interest on another fixed portion of the State deposit. Much of the evidence offered by the District Attorney was brought out at the preliminary hearing on October 5 last. There was some new matter, however, dealing principally with the amount of money aned by the bank to Quay and durng the past twelve or fourteen years, the amount paid to him and other

State treasurers on State deposits, Watson contended that the mere fact that bank clerks, with no personal knowledge of the truth of what they were writing, entered certain figures in a book, which figures purported to represent interest paid to Quay, was no poof that the money had been received by him or that there had been any intention to pay it to him. This argument is in line with the defense's contention that Quay was the victim of Hopkins, who used the ex-Senator's name to cover up his own illegal transctions. Watson also attacked the indictment, deelaring it to be fatally defective. Judge Biddle will probably decide tomorrow whether the books of the bank are admissible. If he declares that they are, Quay's lawyers will next take up the memorandum books and letters belonging to Hopkins, and oppose their introduction as valid testimony. Previous to the presentation of the bank responsible for what they term the conspiracy against their favorite, gave testimony in corroboration, and explained Barlow's statement. Barlow created a sensation by the statement that he had broken open the dead cashier's desk and taken therefrom the books and letters appertaining to the Quay trial, at the behest of a mysterious informant, who spoke to him over the telephone from Harrisburg and stated that there was a plot documents that night. He was, he said, never able to learn who his mysterious friend was. The fact was gleaned from Barlow that the bank books and letters were practically in the control of Judge Gordon from April until September of last year. He considered this proper, as Judge Gordon was the confidential adviser of President McManes of the Law officers of the government are discussing, in the list of the President's proclamation announcing the conclusion of peace, the question of mustering out the volunteer army. by Attorney Shapley of counsel for Quay.

Shapley's line of questions apparently indicated his purpose to prove that the whole fabric of the charges against Quay were the result of a conspiracy. After bringing out the fact that Barlow was assistant to Former Dist. Atty. Graham during the time he acted as receiver and was busy with other duties, the witness was told to tell all the circumstances of his removal of certain letters, papers and books from the private desk of Cashier Hopkins. Among these books is the one known as the "red book," which the prosecution alleges shows that Hopkins computed interest on the State funds which he deposted to credit. The papers also included the Quay letters, among them the "plum tree document."

Barlow said in reply:
"On March 29, a person in Harrisurg, whom I did not then and do not burg, whom I did not then and do not now know, spoke to me in this city over the long-distance telephone. He sald: 'I want to say to you an attempt will be made tonight to take certain documents out of Hopkinse desk, so they had better be taken by you.' As a result of this, I went to the bank accompanied by a policeman, broke open the desk and took them out."

orone open the desk and took them out."

The witness said he notified Judge Gordon, then one of the common pleas Judges, of his intention, the latter being private and confidential adviser to James McManes, president of the bank. For about three hours that night helf the documents in the possession of Judge Gordon in a trust company's office. Afterward these papers were vidtually in Judge Gordon's custody until early in September. Barlow explained that McManes had agreed to pay the debts of the bank, and as Judge Gordon was his friend, he considered it perfectly proper that the idered it perfectly proper that udge should know of the contents he books and papers.

Barlow denied any knowledge of the totographing of Quay letters for the Barlow denied any knowledge of the photographing of Quay letters for the use of his political opponents. He said he did not know that they had been taken by Judge Gordon and shown to David Martin, or that Judge Gordon and John Wanamaker had taken them to New York and shown them to the Democratic National Commisteeman James M. Guffey in an effort to make Judge Gordon the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania last year. Barlow denied knowing that before he received the anonymous telephone message from Harrisburg. Judge Gordon had opened the private desk and examined the books and papers. He thought State Bank Commissioner Gilkeson had seen the documents prior to their coming into his (Barlow's) possession. He stated that early in September last he showed them to Atty.-Gen. McCormick in Harrisburg. Shapley asked witness if the Attorney-General had not told him that there was nothing in them on which to base a civil or criminal action. The question was objected to by the District Attorney and the objection was sustained.

Witness denied that any money or securities of the bank had been in possession.

Shapeley endeavored to make the witness say that there were among the papers an envelope with a Harrisburg postmark, addressed to President McManes, which fits the letter from Treasurer Haywood to the bank, saying that if a loan of $100,000 is made to ing that if a loan of $100,000 is made to Senator Quay's son, he will keep the State balance at $600,000 until the pay-ment of the loan. The prosecution claims that, although the letter is adment of the loan. The prosecution claims that, although the letter is addressed to President McManes for purposes of formality, it was sent to Cashier Hopkins direct, as had been the custom of Haywood.

Judge Gordon identified the papers and books that had been placed in his possession by the receiver of the bank, and said they are undoubtedly in the same condition now as when he received them. Cross-examined by Shields, Judge Gordon said he did not gain his knowledge of the papers in his capacity as counsel for McManes, but as his intimate personal friend.

"Who was the person to whom you showed the papers?"

"The man who advised me of their existence, David Martin."

"Who next?"

"John Wanamaker."

The books were never in Mr. Wanamaker's custody, Orr of Harrisburg and Harris, a personal friend of the witness, had the papers in their possession for the purpose of photographing them.

He said that while the indict ment charged Quay with conspiring to unlawfully use the State money con damed in the Februs Salar, there was ebsolutely no means of proving that the money was the property of the State, but that it was the property of the Feople's Bank since it had been legally deposited.

He argued that no grand jury had ever passed upon the alleged crime for which Quay was being tried, and that the indictment was fatally de-

After the troops were landed he ordered all troops forward with three days' rations. The meat ration was not specified. Each commander determined whether it should be bacen or roast beef. He heard no complaint of canned roast beef between the time of landing and the surrender. He heard no complaints until after his return from Cuba. Naturally, in such a climate, it was not appetizing. LAWTON'S ADVANCE CONTINUES.

Enemy's Loss Over a Hundred and Fifty-Daring Filipino. [DY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK April 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's Manila cable, dated April 11, at 10:30 a.m., says that Gen. Lawton's advance on the rebels beyond Santa Cruz was continued this morning. The total number of the enemy driven from the town is estimated at 1000. They lost 150 killed and wounded in the attack on Santa Cruz. Among their dead is Commandante Pablo Aguirre. Santa Cruz is a prosperous and well-built town. It will probably be used by Gen. Lawton as the base of his opera-tions around Laguna de Bay.

During the advance on Santa Cruz, when the troops were half-way to the town from the landing place, an attack was made upon them by a single Fili pino, who, remaining behind when his comrades fled, secreted himself in a house which he knew the Americans would pass. Close to the town there was a bridge 200 feet long. The insurgents had barricaded and made an attempt to hold it. A company each of the Fourteenth In-fantry and the North Dakota Volun-teers advanced to the bridge under a heavy fire from behind the barricade and from some stone houses close to the approach to the bridge. Our troops speedily tore down the barricade, but before this was accomplished the na-tives, after delivering a few parting shots, fled back into the town. Meantime the others of the American forces did not wait until the bridge was taken, but forded the river and drove enemy eastward through the town into the flats bordering the lake, where the gunboats Napidan, Oesta and Laguna de Bay brought their Gatling guns into play, and, aided by the fire from the troops, killed and wounded seventy of the natives.

Seven ancient Spanish cannon, and also a number of imitation cannon, manufactured out of gas pipe by the insurgents, were captured. # PRODUCTION OF GOLD.

Enormous Increase Obviates Neces sity for Remonetization of Silver. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
NEW YORK, April 11.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says that so far as the report of the British Indian Currency Commission tends to show that there has been any serious consideration by the American Cabi-net of the question of another monetary conference, or of the ratio for the colnage of gold and silver, it is misleading. There is the highest authority for the statement that there has been no semonetary conference, and that it is highly improbable that the United States, under the present administra-tion, will take an initiative for the call-tion, will take an initiative for the calling of another. It can be said on the same authority, however, that the United States will accept any invitation that may be issued by any other nation for such a conference, and that the present administration would be inclined to go as far in increasing the use of silver as other leading commercial nations might be willing to go. The enormous increase in the production of gold within the last few years, and the prospects that the annual output of the mines of the world will increase for many years, have served to convince many who formerly advocated remonetization of silver by an international agreement that such a step is unnecessary.

George E. Roberts, Director of the Mint, whose official position gives much significance to what he says, said tonight that he was formerly an advocate of an international agreement, but that in view of the great change in the situation, due to increased gold production, he did not believe that such an agreement was now possible, because there was no longer necessity for it, and it would be impossible to interest people in it. in it.

"The increase in gold production," he said, "is almost inconceivable. I have made a calculation based on the most reliable data obtainable, which shows that by the year 1900, the annual production of gold alone in the world will equal the production of gold and silver combined in 1896. This means that by the time of the next Presidential campaign, gold alone will supply the volume of money that Mr. Bryan and his followers in the last campaign contended was necessary. This leaves the advocates of free coinage very little ground upon which to stand.

"I see by Mr. Bryan's published letter to Mr. Belmont, that he quotes what Mr. Carlisle said in 1878. Conditions were entirely different in those years. The great increase in the production of gold throughout the world had not then commenced. There had been a tendency for the annual production to fall off, rather than increase, and the situation was such as to lead many careful thinkers to advocate a return to the free coinage of both metals. The situation now is entirely different, and what was said then can have no application to present conditions."

It was several minutes before the tumult of enthusiasm of the students subsided to allow the Governor to be heard.

Gov. Roosevelt spoke highly of the college men in his regiment, and said that the university man in the war had earned the gratitude of his countrymen. Said he:

"Much has been given you and we have the right to expect from you, in return. You can do your duty in two ways—first, in the direction of common honesty; second in the direction of common sense. I am speaking from a political standpoint now. I do not know which I regard with the most unaffected dread—the machine politician or the fool reformer. If you will not set yourself to try and solve the problems growing out of the complexity of our social conditions, you can depend upon it, the lead will be taken by demagogues exciting the animosity of class against class for their own selfish purposes."

FARMER KILLS WOODCHOPPER On the Way to Give Himself Up-End of a Long Fend.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, April 11. - Sheriff Johnson, Coroner McMullen, Dist.-Atty Baker and Stenographer Duden went out tonight to investigate a tragedy that took place four miles from Gali this afternoon, in which John R. Bandeen, a well-known farmer, shot and killed a woodchopper named H. H. Pearson. Sheriff Johnson telephone from Galt that Bandeen had left be fore the officers reached there, and fore the officers reached there, and was on his way to Sacramento to give himself up. All that could be learned at Galt was that Pearson was employed on Marty Bros'. ranch as a laborer. There had been a feud between him and Bandeen for four years. Bandeen's statement was that Pearson attacked him with an ax, and he shot him in self-defense.

to the defendant's attorneys for crossevenination this afternoon. Gen. dock, husband of the plaintiff in the to the defendant's attorneys for cross-examination this afternoon. Gen. Barnes questioned the witness severely and closely, but Murdock was straightforward, and collected. On direct examination witness told of meeting William Murdock in Chico, where the latter told him he had given the $100,000 note to the wife of, witness, of seeing the note on his return home and of the subsequent burial of it. Gen. Barnes could not shake the witness, cross-examination only making stronger the story. The examination went into the details of the business dealings between William Murdock and witness's father, Samuel. From the scope of the questioning, it would seem that the defense intends trying to show no proved consideration, and thus make the forgery charge consistent. The reputation of Gawn Murdock is such that his testimony makes a strong impression. Witness testified that at Sacrahis testimony makes a strong impression. Witness testified that at Sacramento in 1890. William Murdock said in the presence of one Megginson, witness and the latter's wife that the not was good and would be paid when due. The cross-examination continues to-morrow. Interest is intense.

VANDERBILTS' ACQUISITION.

They Have Secured Western Terminal for Transcontinental Road. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—The

Call says that the Vanderbilts have secured in this city a western terminal to their lately-bought transcontinental railway system. By a deal consum-mated in New York on the 5th of the resent month, they secured of Behrend Joost and his associates the rights-of-way and the franchises of the West Shore Railway from San Francisco to Santa Cruz via Colma and Pescadero, and for some weeks past they have had practical control of the Monterey-Fresno line from Monterey to Fresno through the Coast Range via Walker through the Coast Range via Walker Pass.

From Fresno a connection with the road they are now building from Sait Lake to Los Angeles is simply a matter of laying ties and tracks. Between the terminal of the West Shore line at Santa Cruz and the Monterey-Fresno line, there is a gap of forty-four miles extending round Monterey Bay, which is covered by neither franchise nor rights-of-way, and the agent of the Vanderbilts in this city, Gen. Hart, anticipates no trouble in acquiring one of them.

The contract with the West Shore Pacific Proposed Was signed in this city for the West Shore Railway Company on March 25, by R. S. Thornton, the president, and by R. J. Willats, the secretary. Then it was forwarded to New York and signed by Freeman & James, agents for the Vanderbilts, on the 5th inst. Gen. Hart, who holds the contract, cannot speak to a certainty, but says he is authoritatively informed that active work will be begun within the next sixty days.

that the terms of their agreement with Graham, relative to the payment of the interest on the note alluded to, had been violated. It was testified to that the interest had lapsed.

A motion for a non-suit was argued and denied by the court.

B. A. Graham took the witness stand in his own behalf. He testified concerning his relations with the Spreckels Bros. Company of San Diego. He said that he sold $3800 worth of cedar lumber to the company with the request that the money be forwarded to J. D. Spreckels Bros. He also cited several payments of money as interest on the note sued for. Graham stated that the Commercial Company denied his ownership of the lumber in question and refused to accept the money as payment of the interest on the note. The case revolves upon the question of the ownership of the lumber. It is contended that if it belonged to Graham, the Spreckels Bros. had no cause to refuse the money and apply it on the interest of the note.

The case will probably be completed tomorrow.

SENSATION MAY BE SPRUNG.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT. SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Interest in the suit of J. D. Spreckels & Bros. Company against R. A. Graham on a promissory note for $523.162, and involving title to properties valued at $3,000,000, is growing. This was attested by the increased attendance in court today. That the defense was denied a jury on Monday caused some surprise and rumors are current that a sensation may be sprung at any moment. SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.-Interest

Temperature Above Normal and Prospects Good for Heavy Yield. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—The weather and crop conditions existing the past week have been summarized by the Department of Agricul-ture as follows:

"The temperature has been considerably above normal in nearly all parts of the State, causing a rapid develop-ment of grain and fruit. No rain has ment of grain and fruit. No rain has fallen except light showers on the northwest coast. In portions of Southern California grain and pasturage are beginning to show a lack of moisture, but elsewhere conditions are unusually favorable. Apricots will yield a larger crop than has been estimated, and other deciduous fruits and grains promise a heavier yield than has been known for several years. Orange trees are in bloom in Butte county, and citrus fruit prospects are good. Strawberries are coming into the market plentifully in some sections.

DRY WINE INDUSTRY.

anta Clara Holde a Meeting of Vine yardists for Its Revival. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.-The the reorganization of the dry-wine in dustry of California. Santa Clara has set the pace by holding a meeting of the vineyardists of that county, at which the agreement was reached that the only safety of those engaged in the business consisted in firm allegiance in the California Wine Makers' Corporation. A resolution was adopted for the appointment of six delegates from the various sections of the county to represent Santa Clara at a meeting of delegates from the other wine-producing counties of the State, to be held in San Francisco for the purpose of formulating a new agreement with the corporation or of devising some other plan by which to unite the vine-yardists of California in a compact organization. the vineyardists of that county ganization.

Santa Clara's action is important to the dry-wine trade for the reason that the period for which the present wine-makers' corporation was formed expires by limitation with the handling of the crop of 1898, and if the agreement formulated by its officers with the associated dealers is to be carried out, and the industry thereby be placed on a firm and stable basis, the wine makers must be organized in time to handle the crop of the season just opening.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN QUENTIN, April 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Locrimier, the sergeant-major of artillery and former secretary of the late Lieut.-Col. Henry, who committed suicide on Monday evening here, had been suffering from melancholia, since he heard of the suinelancholia, since he heard of the suicide of Col. Henry in the fortress of Mont Valerian, Paris, in August last. The sergeant-major had not retired from the army, as at first announced, but was preparing to return to his regiment on Saturday next. He re-ceived a couple of letters yesterday, and after reading them he went into a stable and hanged himself.

PARIS. April 11.—The suicide of Lieut.Col. Henry in the fortress at Mont Valerien, Paris, last August, gave Locrimier, his secretary, such a shock that his brain was affected and he was placed on the retired list as a hopeless invalid. Since that time, the former sergeant-major of artillery had resided at San Quentin in a chatelet there with his family and his father—what. but never spoke of the Dreyfuz drama, which evidently preyed upon his mind.

Last Saturday he received a telegram, not from the Minister of War, as was at first alleged, but an unsigned dispatch ordering him to proceed to Paris mmediately to place himself at he disposal "de qui de droit" (one who has the right to order you thus.) "Locrimier spent the rest of Saturday preparing for the journey and killed himself that night.

It is remarked as curious that throughout the whole agitation Locrimier's name had never been mentioned. There seems no doubt, however, that he could have thrown some light upon the affair, especially regarding the mysterious death of Len Mercier Pickard, the detective, understood to have been employed in the Dreyfus affair, who was found hanging in his lodging in circumstances which did not point conclusively to suicide.

TRAPSHOOTING TOURNAMENT.

Two Hundred and Eleven Entries at Elkwood Park, N. J.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK. April 11.—The opening of the seventh annual trapshooting tournament of live birds under the auspices of the Interstate Association which took place at Elkwood Park, N. J., this morning, was attended by glorious weather. When the sport began there were so many entries for the fitteen-bird handicap that the management decided to abandon the sevenbird sweepstakes which was the only bird sweepstakes, which was the only other event on the day's programme. In all, 211 shooters faced the traps for the main event, all of whom stood on marks allotted to them by the handicappers of the grand American.

Owing to the very large entries, the shooters who missed two birds dropped shooters who missed two birds dropped out of the race, so that the contest could be finished before darkness set in. At the end of the fifteenth round, thirty of the original field of 211 had tied with fifteen kills each, and under the rules governing the contest, the money, which amounted to $2110, was equally divided among them.

On a new set of traps near the Elkwood Inn, three misses and out events were decided. The grand American will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1 WASHINGTON, April 11.-The prinripal subject of discussion at today's Cabinet-meeting was an elaborate plan of credit extensions in Cuba, which has been presented by Gen. Brooke and his Cabinet council. The proposed plan of mortgage extension involves payments in installments covering periods of varying length up to six years, and is intended to place creditors beyond the reach of foreclosure proceedings until they can, to some extent, at least, recuperate their fortunes. The plan proposed, however, does not meet with the approval of the Attorney-General or the President, but just what will be done has not yet been decided. pal subject of discussion at today's ISPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES. MANILA (Philippines,) March 11 1899.—Since the flerce battles along the line which began on February 22, last-ing nearly a week, matters have grad. ually resumed their normal condition Large batches of prisoners and suspects have been arrested, and the arsenal and other places of security are pretty well filled up with a miscellaneous assortment of insurrecto gentry, most of whom look as though they would line up better at a square meal after a good bath than behind a Maurer or persons.

ser or Remington.

The order making it necessary for civilians to be in their houses at 7 o'clock p.m. is still in force, and, although it has proved itself a wise precaution, it is inconvenient to some and it of course, will be officially nd it, of course, will be officially escinded when the proper time comes. Last week an insurgent officer op-osite Caloocan sent up a flag of truce and Col. Funston of the Twentieth Kansas met the rebels, who proposed to stop sharpshooting in that particular locality, and there has been none since. The several engagements and our superior sharpshooting had played such havoc in their ranks that they seemed nxious for a rest.

The point the insurgents seem to attack most persistently is that part of the American lines protecting the waterworks. An army official stathe American lines protecting the waterworks. An army official stationed in that quarter has said that it is possible for the insurgents, by concentrating a large force there, to break through, but it is hardly probable. On the hill near the waterworks and commanding all possible approaches of the rebels our men are well intrenched in the hands of the Filipinos nothing could save Manila from fire. The water in the reservoir would last, for the ordinary uses of the people, but two or three days. The transport Morgan City arrived here on March 2, bringing a number of soldiers from San Francisco besides about fifty ladies and children, the families of army officers and some Red Cross nurses. With the exception of the nurses, Maj.-Gen. Otis ordered that the ladies and the children must remain on the Morgan City out in the harbor. The reason of Gen. Otis for this was that a few officers have brought their wives to Manila before this, and by experience he has learned that the first thing such an officer thinks about when a battle is coming and the city has been fired, is the safety of his family, and the interests of the army suffer. At first the ladies who had been on the ship twenty-nine days were badly disappointed and angry with Gen. Otis, but when they understood the reason were entirely satisfied, and settled down to live on the ship.

stood the reason were entirely satisfied, and settled down to live on the ship.

The Morgan City also brought a number of postal clerks of the United States Postoffice Department, who are sent to the Philippines to take charge of postoffice matters here. They will be sent to Iloilo, Cavite, Cebu and Negros to take positions as postmasters, etc., in those sections.

The United States transport Senator came in from San Francisco on March 4, with 674 men of the Twenty-second Regiment and a little mail. On the 5th the Ohio arrived with the other six companies of the regiment and a large quantity of salt. The troops from both ships went into camp on the Luneta for a few days' rest before being assigned to duty.

The Ohio brings 300 coffins, a large amount of embalming materials and professional embalmers for preparing the bodies of dead United States army officers for shipment home.

Maj-Gen. Lawton with troops, via the Suez Canal, is expected here at any time. Upon his arrival it is thought that the campaign against the insurgents will be an aggressive one.

The United States now has the largest and most powerful neet of warships ever brought together within a thousand miles of Hongkong. The smaller ships and the gunboats of the figet will be used to intercept supplies and ammunition that will try to land for the enemy. There are enough of these to keep everything away from the Island of Luzon. With no rice growing at will then be an easy matter to starve the insurgents out. Although they are said to have a powder factory running night and day at Malolos, it is claimed that they are short of ammunition.

the men in his regiment represented newspapers. When some of the papers containing these tales drift into Manila and are read by those on the ground, they make very amusing reading to those who know better, but when it is realized that it is a very serious matter at home it is a different thing.

Bishop J. M. Thoburn, at the head of the missionary work in Asia for the Methodist Episcopal Church, with headquarters at Calcutta, India, has arrived in Manila to look over the ground here as a field for missions. There has never been a Protestant church or mission on these islands, and Bishop Andrews and Dr. Leonard, at the head of the church missions in New York, cabled Bishop Thoburn to come here.

It now turns out that Bishop McCabe attached the Philippines as a district to the Oregon conference and sent the Rev. Owens here from Tacoma, Wash., as presiding elder. The board of missions in New York, while appreciating his zeal, disagreed with Bishop McCabe's course, hence Bishop Thoburn's presence here to put missionaries into the field at once. This means that the Methodist Episcopal Church is the first Protestant church in the field. Church is the first Protestant church n the field.

church is the first Protestant church in the field.

Upon the arrival of Bishop Thoburn the Chinese Consul sent for him and warmly received him when he called. Through an interpreter he explained to the bishop the condition of the Chinese in the Philippines and how they all came to be Catholics. Nearly all of his people here had married Filipinos, and before the church would permit the marriage of their women to Chinamen the latter were obliged to join the church. The Consul said that he himself was forced to become a Catholic in order to stay here and occupy his position.

He urged the bishop to get to work self was forced to become a Catholic in order to stay here and occupy his position.

He urged the bishop to get to work soon among his people with the missionaries, and said the bishop: "It is a good sign to have these people send for us, and I have had nothing encourage me so much in a long time as the voluntary seeking of our religion for his tens of thousands of people in these islands, on the part of the leading and most influential Chinaman here." The bishop further said: "With American control of the Philippines the cause of Thrist as we have been laboring all *uese years to establish it in Asia will have advanced more than a century, for these islands almost touch the continent of Asia, and the relations of the inhabitants, in every respect, are so closely allied to those on the main land. With our occupation here Admiral Dewey will have been an agency in the cause of missions in the Far East, and the humblest American soldier will indirectly have been a missionary."

Which would be the greater responsibility for the United States, to hold these islands or to drop them? People in America should bear in mind that the monastic churches here are entirely different from our Catholic church, and army officers here who are Catholics strongly condemn the methods of the church in the Philippines.

There are 100 sailors and tramps, the former becoming deserters from ships in Manila Harbor so they could stay here to take advantage of the opportunity for looting. They are from both American and English ships, and many of them are very tough characters.

They dress up as American soldiers and watch their opportunity where there is a fire or a battle, but the United States authorities are after them and will soon round them all up and, have them in jail. Several are there now. In some instances the American soldiers have been given the credit for the crimes of these desperate men.

The men claim the discontinuing of these places is in the direct interest of the saloon-keeper and the wholesale liquor dealers and will have a tendency of taking the soldiers outside and into worse company. Heretofore the money earned by these places has gone into a fund to be used for any purpose the members of the camp might direct. Some of them used it to hire a Chinaman to do their washing and perform other camp dutles. Others would use it in some other way.

The men claim that the "Soldiers' Canteen" has had the effect of keeping the wilder ones of the camp from drinking the terrible concoctions, especially the dangerous "Anisado." drank by the natives here. The military government has recently ordered that the sale and manufacture of the stuff be discontinued and violators of this order are severely punished. It is made of rice stems. The natives have many kinds of intoxicants peculiar to themselves, and of course our soldier boys must at least sample all of them. Modern civilization has been credited with a great deal that is bad, but it cannot be charged with giving the semilarity and the control of the native has been giving civilization, through the American soldier, a few lessons.

The men claim that dready liquors used as beverages. In this respect the native has been giving civilization, through the American soldier, a few lessons.

The enlisted men are worked up more, however, on account of the abolition of mileage and rations allowance by the War Department. Heretofore the privates were credited with 50 cents mileage and 30 cents rations for every twenty miles traveled, amounting in all to 80 cents. For instance, every hundred miles covered amounting in all to 80 cents. For instance, every bundred miles covered the enlisted man would have $4 credited to him, every one thousand miles $40. The government estimates on a basis of 11,000 miles from New York to Manila, so the private from there coming to Manila would have just $440 payable when he was discharged. Officers are allowed the same in proportion to the rank and salary pald, so many of them will have snug sums due them.

and will tell you in Spanish, cano mucha amigo." The Spanish newspapers

The Spanish newspapers are running as usual, and one new illustrated humorous paper has recently started and prints all kinds of jokes on Uncle Sam and the Filipinos. The Filipino papers, of course, have all gone to Malolos, Aguinaldo's capital city.

If I were giving Manila a sobriquet I would call it the "Filipy City," but since the United States military government has organized a street-cleaning department and set the Filipino prisoners of war to work on the streets and parks they present a very noticeable improvement. Street cleaning is something never attempted before in Manila, and the Spanish residents are surprised at the change. Carls hauled by water buffalo go through the principal streets daily with a corps of sweepers, accompanied by a guard of soldier boys. The military police are alsoforcing the inhabitants to have more regard for ordinary decency and the cleanliness of the public streets, but this is an undertaking of great magnitude, for it is like changing the habits of a people.

Near the main hospital for United States soldiers is the branch hospital of our government for the care and treatment of Filipino sick and wounded soldiers who have been captured. Insurgent soldiers with one or both arms or legs amputated and with all sorts of wounds are found there. There are some women who have been shot also, as many of them have been engaged in carrying ammunition to the soldiers. All receive the very best of treatment, fully equal to that given our own, and the wounded insurgent who has fallen into the hands of the Americans are fortunate indeed, for their own people are unable to give them proper medical treatment or food. The medical men say they make difficult cases to cure, for the condition of their blood is not favorable for the treatment of serious wounds.

It is said that scarcity of provisions and lack of ammunition, besides other discomforts incidental to keeping up a hopelessly losing game, have made numbers of insurgents determined to surrender. In fact, some have already tried to do at present is the plan of our government in handling the transports. Experienced naval men believe that transports should be handled entirely by the navy. The War Department should see that their men are on the transports, but it is the navy's business to see that the vessels are safely leanded at their destination and convoyed when necessary. They claim that there has been much confusion recently in handling the transports between Manila and Iloilo that needed the assistance of the navy. The transports of England are handled by the navy, and naval officers claim that it is the correct system.

The Manila postoffice is doing an enormous business. From the date of opening to December 31, the stamp sales amounted to $22,000; money orders, $176,000; number of letters handled, 15,000,000; number of letters handled, 15,000,000; newspapers end packages, 2,000,000.

Under the Spanish the number of employés in the Manila postoffice numbered 250, now fifty men do the work, twenty-one of the old Spanish employés being retained as elcrks. There are fourteen letter carriers who collect 1 cent for each letter delivered. There are six postoffice employés who take care of the horses, drive the wagons, etc. Soon a postoffice will be established at Zamboanga, the largest

The French men-of-war Jean Bart came into Manlia Bay yesterday and gave the Olympia, the Rear-Admiral's salute. The Admiral returned the salute the same as it was given, but sent an officer out with a launch to notify the Frenchman that the Olympia was now entitled to the Admiral's salute. The officers of the French ship had not noticed the Admiral's pennant before saluting.

The "four stars" had not appeared in the American navy since Admiral Porter's death, he having succeeded Admiral Farragut, who with Dewey, are the only men in American history who have attained the rank of Admiral. With the raising of the flag on the Olympia the Admiral's salute of seventeen guns was fired by the various vessels composing the fleet, the shore batteries on the Luneta and from the British, Japanese and German warships in the bay. The flag ship returned the salute, and the simple ceremony, with which Admiral Dewey became vested with his new rank was over.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles, Ridicule, However, is not Argument, and Facts are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common, and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never be-ing humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be car-This fear of being numbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive ferments, pure and call, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the commonsense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles, because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested, or half digested is polson, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name. They are sold by druggists everywhere at

50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stom-

Police Station and give himself up he will save the minions of the law, and perhaps himself, much trouble. Porter has been a loudly-conspicuous man about town by reason of his swagge airs and numerous peccadilloes, but now that there is a real yearning for a sight of his manly presence, he is conspicuous only by his absence.

Porter's unconventional conduct ince coming to this city seem to have afforded him a great deal of amuse ment, but he will probably find that it ment, but he will probably find that it is no joking matter that he is up against this time.

A warrant was issued yesterday for Porter's arrest on the charge of battery, and a civil suit for $25,000 is to follow.

Although the hotel people and all other parties concerned are very reticent about the matter, it leaked out yesterday that Durbrow was the victim of a brutal assault on the part of Porter last Sunday night.

According to the best information obtainable. Porter and Durbrow were in the bar-room or the office of the hotel about 1 o'clock in the morning. Porter was in a playful mood, and wanted Durbrow to help him make a "snow-storm" with a bag or dish of popoon. Durbrow felt too old and dignified to indulge in such boy's play, and tried to get away from his tipsy companion. Porter then is alleged to have insisted that he should take a drink, but Durbrow excused himself and started to leave the hotel. As Porter saw him disappear through the Mainstreet entrance, he ran after Eim, shouting: "You can't shake me this way."

Durbrow turned as he reached the sidewalk to face his pursuer, and at that moment Porter is alleged to have struck him a violent blow in the face. The attack was asso sudden and unexneed that Durbrow, who is a slight man and over 55 years old, was powerless to defend himself. The blow felled him to the cement walk with such force that he was rendered unconscious. Porter, not content with knocking the old man down, is said to ave fumped upon his prostrate form and any Monday and yesterday acondition. He was well enough, however, to see his attorneys a number of provoked, unwarranted and brutal assoult.

LIFE AT ROME.

(Concluded.)

Bramante, the architect, whose influence was then all-powerful was chiefly instrumental in persiding Raphael to leave Florence for wider field. He went to Rome av a time when great things were happening, and when the foundation stone of St. Peter's church had just been laid by Pere Lulius II, and the eternal city Peter's church had just been laid by Pone Julius II, and the eternal city was a scene of artistic enthusiasm and the gathering together of the world's foremost artists—architects, sculptors and painters. It was in 1508 that Raphael, preceded by a brilliant reputation, came to Rome, and for twelve years more he lived and labored there achieving his grandest ways. producing from the love of art beauti-

This is by no means saying that art flourishes better in the atmosphere of ecclesiastic or aristocratic patronage than in the air of democratic freedom, but the epoch to which Raphael belongs and of which he was the most shining light was a splendid one for art. It found its expression in Raphael. He was at once commissioned to decorate some large rooms (stanze) of the Vatican and to aid in other ways in building and adorning St. Peter's church. The imperious Julius summarily dismissed the Florentine and Umbrian artists, Piero della Francesca, Perugino, Pinturicchio and others, erasing their frescoes in order to install the young Raphael in their place, though with his loving heart he mourned the destruction of these paintings. Nor was anything really lost. Invention, the innumerable figures and groupings and the surpassing technique exhibited in these can be understood only by those who have sent them. The amazing rapidity with which the frescoes were produced compelled the aid of Raphael's pupils, and in this way his art degenerated. But these immense creations were not all, and a most lovely form_of decorative art sprung up under his hand.

He had learned much from the antiquities-of Rome, in whose study he led the way, having been appointed superintendent of excavations; and he lovely correctly struck by the fresh discoveries in the haths of Titus of the freeco-Roman arabesque ornamentation and made it the basis of his decorative in the lorgie of the Vatican. selute mannerism and imbecility, Raphael's art, less ecclesiastic and having nature and freedom, possessed the great and freedom, possessed the modern art.

Technically, Raphael's highest merit is his grand breadth of composition. He was the greatest master of the quality of "space composition," learned it may be from Perugino, but seen it higher perfection in Raphael's larger paintings like the "Sposalirio," the "School of Athens" and the "Disputa." in which last another says, "there is a balance of masses and all lines flow to one point, giving unity."

The happy middle point which Raphael reached between the rude realism of nature and the finer idealism of art is seen in his utterly human Madonnas, with their honey-colored hiar, soft eyes and bare feet, and yet with the mother's look of infinite love. They are women, not celestial beings. Raphael's portraits alone are a great theme. What a calamity was the loss of his nortraits of Lorenzo da Medici and Elizabetta. Duchess of Urbino! What rusged power, fire and cynic energy are concentrated in his likeness of Julius II, and what strong coloring and coarse, mundane character in that of Lover confirm the remark of Lanzi that, however lovely Raphael's female faces are, his male heads are more vigorous.

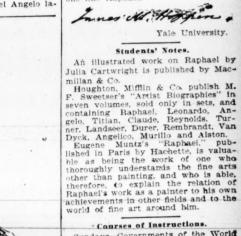

The inimitable splendor of Raphael's artistic skill shows, as has been hinted, a pathetic decline toward the end of his life, for the reason that he attempted too much, tried to go beyond even his own powers, and he thus hurried and scanted his work. It became diffused and weakened. His pupils did not bear out his fame. They lost the magic breadth of his composition, the smooth and refined coloring, the exquisite grace and the religious feeling that characterized the master, so that renaissance art touched its zenith in him, and it was a golden sunset glory that emerged a while before it quite vanished away.

In certain qualities of painting, Titian was undoubtedly greater than Raphael, and in other qualities Velasquez and Rembrandt, as also Rousseau and some mod his studio where he lay in death.

Raphael died on the anniversary of his birth in 1520, and was buried in the Pantheon of Rome.

In any just estimate of what Raphael was and accomplished it would be unfair to forget that he was but 37 years old when he died. Michael Angelo la-

The course of the Republican party in this State is directed toward certain disaster. The State machine is running upon a course which will bring it into a violent collision with public opinion. And the result will be a total, irreparable wreck. The tension of public sentiment has almost reached the safety limit. The action of the machine on the Senatorial question has precipitated conditions which imperil the success of the party. A change in the programme has become imperative. people demand it; good policy dictates it.

Had the attempt to elect a Senator been attended with mitigating circumstances, the high position of the party, and the great issues which it represents, might enable it to retrieve the errors committed at Sacramento. Had the failure to elect a Senator been due to a contest of able, highminded candidates, all seeking the honor from the standpoint of merit. the result would present an entirely different phase. But such was not the case. It was a clear case of prostitution, in which the fair name of the party was dragged ruthlessly into the slough of despond, and its powerful influence apparently exercised to elect a man so low in public estimation that he needs a Mount Lowe railway to get up to the gate of perdition.

And for this monstrous folly, this insult to public intelligence, this poman and nature, the Republican party of the great State of California numbering as it does some of the most eminent men of the nation, mus be called to the bar to answer the protests of an outraged and exasperated people. And why? Simply because the machinery of the party has been wantonly and ruthlessly employed to place as a representative of most august and powerful legislative body on earth, a person who would be in a more congenial and "useful sphere in a pothouse than at Wash-For this unhallowed prostitution of the party organization at Sacramento to place a political bashibazouk in a seat once adorned by Webster, or Toombs, or Roscoe Conk-And yet what does the State machine their eyes and ears to the coming storm, and complacently exclaim: "The public be d-d!"

THE ISLES OF THE PACIFIC A German scientist, named Mahler, has been making investigations regarding the population of the islands of the Pacific Ocean, which is of special interest to the United States just at this time. He comes to the conclusion, as a result of careful investigation, that the population of the Polynesian Islands is dying out. There are several causes for this the islands. Mr. Mahler shows that, even at the time when Europeans ippines." Exactly. And that is pre even at the time when Europeans first began to visit the islands, comparatively few of them were inhab-Average number copies printed daily 25,880 among the islands, the number of in the Philippines comprises the sum Average number copies printed Sunday.

Among the reasons given by the of affairs is the introduction of contagious diseases by white people, which have destroyed large numbers of the natives. The drinking habit has also claimed many victims. The wars which have been waged with white people and among the natives themselves have also been much more deadly since the introduction of firearms. Yet another cause of decrease in the population has been the exportation of natives to work on plantations in other islands, far from their own homes, where many of them die.

Mr. Mahler believes that the Polynesian race will completely disappear in the course of the next century, and will be replaced by the white races, particularly the English and Germans, and that some of the islands will be occupied by the Japanese and Chinese. Mr. Mahler does not, apparently, take tile intentions toward the inhabitants into account the probability of colonization of many of these islands from designated, the Republican party of the United States. There is, however, no doubt that, since the war has familiarized the people of this country with the Pacific Ocean, many restless spirits will go out to seek their fortunes among the isles of the Pacific during the next few years.

"THE OTHER SIDE."

Under the above heading THE TIMES publishes a communication from a Pasadena gentleman, opposing the permanent retention of the Philippines, and advocating the adoption of a policy similar to the policy to which we are pledged in our dealing with Cuba. THE TIMES gives space to the communication in pursuance of its well-known practice of presenting both sides of important public ques tions, so far as practicable.

It is not safe for any person to assume that there is either desire or intention on the part of our govern ment to "retain possession" of the Philippines permanently. The President himself has said that the ques tion whether we shall do so or not is one which the American people must decide, and that the policy of the government must be determined by the people's decision. There is every reason to believe that our governmen will give to the inhabitants of the Philippines as large a measure of self-government as they can use without abusing; that they will, in fact, be permitted to govern themselves, to all intents and purposes, so soon as they are capable of doing so, the United States guaranteeing the stability of their government, and holding over them the invincible shield of its protection against foreign aggression

What, then, has the Pasadena correspondent to complain of in the pres ent course of our 'government? He admits, at the very beginning of his communication, that "all Americans of sound mind must agree that, for the best interests of all concerned disappearance of the native races of the authority of this government cisely what is being done. It may almost be said that the establishment ited. Since the white race appeared of the authority of this government Some of the islands have lost all their as it has developed. The chastisement of the belligerent Filipinos is necessary step in the establishment of American authority, and "all Amer icans of sound mind must agree" that the establishment of our authority is writer above quoted for this condition an all-essential preliminary of our future policy, whatever that policy may

> Such being the case what does th correspondent mean by saying that "the shooting of such rebels and devastating their homes is bad busines for Americans to be engaged in and it has come about through this desire for imperialism, or expansion, or colonial power, or whatever other swee name may be found for it?" If the establishment of our authority be nec essary, as he declares, and the shoot ing of rebels is necessary to the establishment of our authority, why is it so "bad a business for Americans to be engaged in?" Is he not aware that the Filipinos fired the first bullets? Does he not know that they were the aggressors? Is he unaware of the fact that we had no hosof the islands until they fired upor our soldiers and our flag?

> In putting down the rebellion are simply taking a step which, the correspondent admits, is a logical necessity of the situation. The gen tleman's argument, as regards this phase of the subject-and this is the principal point of his argument-refutes itself, and needs no further refu tation dore Roosevelt, at the Hamilton Club banquet in Chicago, on Monday night, was like a bugle blast of the coming battle. It was the keynote of an irrepressible conflict which is to be waged between progress and retrogression, between national evolution and national degeneracy, between wholesome growth and unwholesome decadence, between "strenuous life" and ignoble death.

This conflict is even now upon us We cannot avoid it if we would; and Americans who think, feel, and act like Gov. Roosevelt would not avoid this conflict if they could. They invite it. They long for the stress and the din of battle. Believing that their cause is not only just but glorious, entertaining high ideals and striving to live up to them, they are prepared to enter the conflict with the confidence and the courage which presage victory. As events are now rapidly shaping, it seems inevitable that the issue of supreme importance in the next Presidential campaign will be the government of the territories over which the war with Spain has given us control; and, as a corollary of that issue, the determination of our foreign policy in general. There can be no doubt as to the alignment of political parties on these questions. Mr. Roosevelt has spoken for the party which is to represent aggressiveness, vitality, and progress. Mr. Bryan has spoken for the party which is to represent indecision, weakness, and retrogression. The one will be a positive, vitalizing force; the other an organized negation.

Not all Republicans will gather under the banners of the party of progress, nor will all Democrats ally themselves to the party of retrogression. There will be, to some extent a realignment on both sides, though the majority of Republicans will stand by the administration-for which, with some limitations, Gov. Roosevelt undoubtedly spoke. The majority of the Democratic party will without much doubt range themselves upon the reactionary platform indicated by Bryan in his latest book and in his speeches.

It will remain for the American people-that high court of last resort-to determine whether the principles enunciated by Gov. Roosevel or the principles set forth by Bryan, shall control the destinies and shape the policies of this nation during the next few years, which will be pregnant with good or with evil, as events may decide. There will be other issues in the campaign, but they will be subordinate to the central issue above indicated. Reduced to simple terms, this issue will be whether we shall adopt the Chinese policy of non-participation in the affairs of the world, or shall become a great worldower, exercising a potent and civilizing influence upon the human race. and adding many pages of noble achievements to the world's history.

The time is not far in the future when the American people must decide these questions. All true Americans hope, and most of them believe, that these grave problems will be wisely solved.

THE BURBANK. "A Night in Venice," the delightful waltz opera which contains some of the finest work of Johann Strauss, was given its first pre-sentation in Los Angeles last night at the Burbank, before an audience that comfortably filled the large theater. Charming as the opera is, it is easy to understand why it is so seldom produced, except upon an unusually spacious and well-equipped stage. The scenery for the first and third acts must all be constructed especially for this opera, and it is re-markably elaborate and artistic. The scene for the first act is laid by the Grand Canal in Venice, and takes place in a small square near the Rialto. Palaces tower on either side, and at the back is an illuminated drop curtain representing a street in the city as it looks by night. In the third act, the carnival scene takes place in the

as it looks by night. In the third act, the carnival scene takes place in the Piazza di San Marco. This scene is really swonderful, as the drops representing the marble colonnades open upon a glimpse of the Grand Canal, on one side, and the Adriatic, dotted with fishing boats, on the other. At the back is a vista of the interior of the Cathedral of St. Mark, and still beyond another view of the sea.

For a first night, the opera itself went off very smoothly. It is full of charming melodies, and gives opportunity for excellent, work both in the solo and ensemble numbers. The plot is based upon an intrigue and an elopement, and is tangled with many amusing complications. It is no more closely woven than the plots of most light operas, but the interest is well sustained, the incidents follow thick and fast, and the libretto, as well as the music, is delightfully unhackneyed and breezy. The lines are much too good to be interrupted by local gags and upto-date colloquialisms, although the applicability of some of the interpolations brought many rounds of applications brought many rounds of applications brought many rounds of applicability of some of the interpolations brought many rounds of applicability of some of the interpolations brought many rounds of applicability of some of the interpolations brought many rounds of applications. San Francisco and the Tivoli, made her first appearance before a Los Angeles audience last night, and received a cordial welcome and many flowers. Miss Crox sang the part of Ciboletta, the pretty cook, whose alleged stupidity adds so much to the general confusion, and, incidentally, gives Miss Crox a chance to do some clever comedy work. In the second act, the part was slightly exaggerclever comedy work. In the second act, the part was slightly exaggerated, but Miss Crox possesses a personality that lends the charm of plquancy to everything she does. Her simple naiveté in the character of Ciboletta is delicious. In addition, she can sins. and that useful talent makes her simple halvete in the character of close letta is delicious. In addition, she can sing, and that useful talent makes her a decided acquisition to the company. Mr. West had also an excellent comedy part as Pappacoda, a macaroni vendor, and he played it with the artistic finish that marks all his work. Mr. Taylor, as Caramello, the Duke's barber, had a chance to show both his talent for comedy and his voice. His singing of the beautiful "Serenade" was one of the best things he has done. A. L. Parmley had a very congenial part as the Duke of Urbino, who sings one or two charming numbers, and, for the rest, contents himself with looking handsome and dignified. Mr. Parmley has a beautiful voice, which he will handle better by and by, and he sings with much more zest than he makes love, even to "the cuke." Miss Walker has the principal soprano role of Anina, the fisher-maiden, and she sings and acts it with her usual spirit. The minor roles in the long cast are, for the most part, acceptably filled, and the opera, as a whole, is very well done. A little of the horse play of the three Senators might well be dispensed with, but it is not a serious blot upon this particularly careful and elaborate production of a charming opera.

"A motherless boy of 18 obtained the reluctant consent of his father—an advocate of the peace principles of the Religious Society of Friends—to enlist for the war to liberate Cuba. Being a fine shot and something of a "rough vider," he joined a company of cavalry. Not long afterward he made application, and was transferred to the navy and given the appointment of assistant electrician on the cruiser Buffalo, named after his home city. He had worked himself through the various departments of an electrical manufactory, and had served some time in the adjusting-room for the finished products of the foctory. So, as assistant electrician, he had charge in his watch of the electric lights of the six decks and of the great flashlight.

"His boylsh imagination had pictured a patriotic company of young men, the ship's crew with whom he should find noble fellowship. When he found them all given to the use of intoxicating drinks, tobacco, profanity and obscenity, he suffered keen disappointment, and was much inclined to let down his standard a little to find sympathy and fellowship. He had smoked clgars for a week, when one day he stood alone with a clgar in his mouth, thinking of his brothers and sisters and the sainted mother whom he could scarcely remember. He took the clgar from his lips, and, as he wrote his father. 'I threw it away and made up my mind to go thru alone.'

"On November 6, 1898, the Buffalo left
New York with a crew of 350 men and 400 extra sailors for Dewey's fleet at Manila. When about 600 miles out, the great November gale struck them, and formed that the ship had received such damage that she was filling, with the prospect of foundering unless some means could be devised to stop the leakage.

"Most of the men fell into a panic and with cries of childish terror many ran to provide themselves with life-preservers and to secure control of the ship's boats. A few heroic men set resolutely about the work of plugging the leak and repairing the damage.

"The young electrician looked for a moment at the strange conduct of the unthinking mass, and turned away to find something to do in the dynamoroom. As he reached the hatch the chief electrician rushed past him cryling frantically. The ship is sinking! The ship is sinking! The ship is sinking! and disappeared among the life-preservers.

"In the dynamo-room he found the machinery deserted, and devoted himself to the task of keeping up the ship's lights. For twelve anxious hours he worked on without seeing a human being, or hearing from the workers who were trying to save the ship with the human, freight. Then he learned that a hungry and sleepy boy who had determined 'to go thru alone' would like to be relieved.

"The electrician rushed past him cryling frantically."

What a change since then. Where a mown the lofty motives that we prolaimed to the world? We set out validantly to war with Spain and free Cuba; we find ourselves at peace with Spain and at war with Spain and free Cuba; we find ourselves at peace with Spain and at war with a people on their own soil who were fighting for liberty when we came to them. But determined 'to go thru alone' would like to be relieved.

PASADENA, April 11, 1899.—To the Editor of The Times: All Americans of sound mind must agree that, for the best interests of all concerned, the authority of this government must now be established in the Philippines. But should that authority be made permanent? The die has not been cast as to our future relations to the Philippine Islands, and it is not too late for the people to discuss the mat-ter.

Philippine Islands, and it is not too late for the people to discuss the matter.

Whether expansion and government in parts of Asia is, or is not, a desirable thing for us, there is a conviction with many Americans that we cannot with credit to ourselves take the Philippines as a stepping-stone. High motives are as beautiful and as useful among nations as among individuals, and are especially incumbent upon a nation where the people are sovereign. Some moral considerations are involved in this question. Let any American who favors our maintaining permanent control in the Philippines compare our present position with the

Never had nation such honor in the beginning of any war.

What a change since then. Where are now the lofty motives that we proclaimed to the world? We set out valilantly to war with Spain and free valilantly to war with Spain and at war with a people on their own soil who were fighting for their own soil who were fighting for liberty when we came to them. But we are told that destiny placed the Filiphnos in our hands. It has been stated a thousand times that the extended the Filiphnes. How far were we in the possession? We held a mere fringe of land around Manila Bay; our soldiers in the property of the property of the possession?

And now we call them rebels, though they had lately been our serviceable friends. Wherein lay their offense? They dared to love their homes, humble as they were; they cherished their institutions and customs, crude as they were. They loved liberty and refused to be happy under an allen government that had by vote declined to give them that measure of self-government guaranteed to Cuba, but promised them "benevolent assimilation" instead. They became rebels because they claimed the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness which our words written in the Declaration of Inalienable rights of all men.

words written in the Declaration of Inalienable rights of all men.

The shooting of such rebels and devastating their homes is bad business for American to be engaged in and it has come about through this desire for imperialism, or expansion or colonial power, or whatever other sweet name may be found for it.

If these things are to be, let us rub out those words of universal liberty on

If these things are to be, let us rub out those words of universal liberty on which this government was founded, words written in the Declaration of Independence and indelibly fixed there by the blood of our fathers—let us efface these words: "All just powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed." Or else let us wipe away the foul stain that we ourselves are putting upon them.

What is to be done? Undoubtedly the first thing at hand is to establish American authority in the Philippine Islands, but as to the future, let us set our faces against any permanent control there. Let us retrace our steps to some extent and do for the Philippines what we are now doing so well for Cuba. Let us attend to our own housekeeping, some of which is not yet perfect, and cease to dream of governing the world by any other force than the force of example. But, it will be said, at once, as it has dream of governing the world by any other force than the force of example. But, it will be said, at once, as it has been said from the beginning, that the Filipinos are not fit to govern themselves. Well, are we fit to govern themselves. Well, are we fit to govern them? It is true that we make a fair shift of governing ourselves, though the work may truly be said to come high. But, will some colonist please point to a single instance when we have successfully governed anybody else, especially if not of our own color? Alaska? Our neglect of that territory would disgrace the seventeenth century. Hawaii? The same Congress that was so anxious to annex that land that when it could not, for lack of votes, so it by treaty, did it by mere legislative enactment, almost as it would make an appropriation for a new postoffice building—that same expansion Congress recently adjourned without passing a single law for the government of the new possessions, with the result that over 6000 contract coolle laborers have been imported there since Hawaii became a part of the land of the free.

Will we point to the Indians, our wards whom we have plundered shundred years? Let no man say that we have reformed our Indian policy. Only last summer the peaceful Leech Lake Indians of Minnesota had to go into rebellion and shoot and be shot down by our soldiers before they could attract attention—think of it, before they could attract attention—think of it, before they could attract attention—they could attract attention—they could attract attention—they could attract attention—and secure redress for the cruel wrongs they were suffering—at whose hands? At the hands of United States officials.

But who tells us, and upon what authority other than guesses, that the Filipinos cannot govern themselves?

Here is testimony on that point that will command respect.

On the 27th day of June, 1898, Admiral Dewey sent to Secretary Long a cable-gram, concluding with these words: "In my opinion these people are far superior in their intelligence and mor

An incident which occurred this week shows, in a striking manner, firstly, how many people here are in Los Angeles who are anxious to add a little to their incomes, and secondly, how widely the advertising columns of The Times are scanned. A three-line advertisement appeared in the classifled advertisement columns of The Times on Sunday, asking board and lodging for a boy 6 years old, for which remuneration at the rate of $15 a month was offered. Up to 4 o'clock on Monday 114 answers to this advertisement had been received, and they

East Side Park is a most delightful place of resort—in many respects no less delightful than Westlake Park but the water supply is insufficient to keep the grounds properly watered.
Park Commissioner C. E. White, in an interview in the East Side News, tells of two plans to furnish an adequate supply. One is to lease a lot under the zanja which supplies Boyle Heights and build a reservoir there, and the other to build a reservoir on the highest point in the park and put in a plant for pumping the water from the lake. The cost of making the necessary improvements is estimated at $1000. If this estimate is correct the appropriation ought to be made and this beautiful and valuable park not be allowed to suffer for lack of water.

A week or two ago word came from the War Department at Washington to Mrs. W. O. O'Neill of Prescott, Ariz., of the late Capt. O'Neill of the Rough Riders, that the remains of her husband had been found and would ar rive in Washington in a few days to be interred at Arlington. Mrs. O'Nelll, who had spent several thousand dollars in having a search made in Cuba for her husband's body, was of course greatly gratified, and hastened to Washington to be present at the interment. Last Saturday, however, a telegram was received in Prescott from Mrs. O'Neill stating that the report that Capt. O'Neill's body had been found was an error, and that the captain's brother was still in Cuba continuing the search. The blunder was apparently made by the War Depart-ment.

The fugitives are on foot, their horses having been abandoned. They are known to be heavily armed, each having a rifle and revolver. They are sure to sell their lives dearly, well knowing that if captured they will be hanged on the spot without delay. They are appreciated as desperadoes of the worst type, and no mercy will be given them.

Full particulars of the murder are now at hand. It occurred in the Chi-racahua Mountains, at the Halderman anch, thirty-five miles from Pearce A warrant was sworn out before a Justice of the Peace in Pearce, charging the two Haldermans with killing cattle on the range. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Chester L. Ainsworth, a steady and efficient officer, a brother of the Attorney-General of the Territory, Charles F. Ainsworth. Deputy Ainsworth had for several years been on friendly terms with the Halderman brothers, and had no idea his mission would be other than a peaceful one.

About a mile from his destination, near Wilgus, the officer was joined by a young cowboy named Ed Moore. The A warrant was sworn out before a Jus young cowboy named Ed Moore. men they sought were readily found at home. The warrant was duly served upon them, there being no show of resistance. They only asked to be allowed to take with them a change of clothing. Permission was readily granted. The brothers stepped into the Ainsworth and Moore both mounted, awaiting them in front.

Without warning the Haldermans appeared from behind opposite sides of the house and opened fire with rifics on the two horsemen. One bullet, from the front, grazed Ainsworth's left shoulder, and another, from behind, penetrated his brain, coming out be-neath the right eye. He fell dead from his horse. Both rifles were then turned on Moore, who defended himself as bes he could with his revolver, firing four shots. He, however, was shot through the bowels, and had only enough strength to spur his horse from the scene. The horse bore him home, where, at the time, were only his mother and sister. To them he told his tale. Two hours later he died in

When the posse of hastily-summoned ranchmen reached the Halderman ranch the murderers had mounted and fled, one of them riding Alnsworth's horse. The entire district was aroused and every available man started on the trail. Sheriff Scott White has gone to assist, taking with him several depu tles.

Moore, who was only 19 years old, has been buried at home. Ainsworth's remains have been prepared for ship-ment, for burial at his old home, at Flint, Mich.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

No Outsider Allowed to See Him, no Even the President.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, April 11 .- The Herald says that Albert A. Wilcox, law part-ner and business associate of Garret A. Hobart, has just returned from Washington and last night made an authoritative statement as to the health of the Vice-President.

"Aside from the doctors and nurses and Mrs. Hobart," Mr. Wilcox said, "I was the first person allowed to see "I was the first person allowed to see Mr. Hobart. As it was, I was only allowed to see him on condition that I would-not remain in his room more than five minutes and would not mention business. Even President Mc-Kinley is not allowed to see the Vice-President. The great trouble is that if Mr. Hobart talks even a little, a violent paroxysm of coughing follows, continuing until he is completely exhausted and sleep becomes impossible. Until this sickness Mr. Hobart, no matter what the excitement of the day may have been, never knew what it was not to be able to sleep the moment his head touched the pillow. No mail matter is allowed to reach him, and his wife and physicians are devotedly working to protect him from his friends." Until this sickness Mr. Hobar

The Latest Summer Silks

For the approaching hot season nothing can be more satisfactory than a cool, light-weight summer silk. No fabric has been found to take its place for comfort—to say nothing of the superior style attending it.

We are showing today a large assortment of those new light-weight, printed Liberty Satins, in navy blue and black with pretty white polka dots, dusters, twigs, sprays, figures and stripes with interwoven vines running along the white stripes. They are certainly the handsomest and most effective summer silks the manufacturers have produced in years, soft, lustrous and wearable, made of pure silk and perfect dye. They should prove the most satisfactory goods in the market today for summer wear. They have been given a price, too, that is most interesting and attractive—a price that is easily within the reach of all. Your pick of the lot, while they

ANNEXATION OF UNIVERSITY WOULD SPOIL THEIR GAMB.

COURT ADVISED ACQUITTAL.

MILL OPERATED AT JOHANNES-BURG UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Production in the Capital Stock of the Mount Lowe Railroad Com-pany-Mrs. Fannie Holiday's Damage Suit in Court.

There is more to be decided at the oming special election, at which the natter of annexing the University precincts is to be voted upon, than the imple extension of the boundaries of he city so as to include that district.

f annexation carries at the polls, 1t vill mean that coursing and other forms of gambling at Agricultural Park must cease, for that park will then be included in the city. Those in-terested in the events at the park have begun an active campaign to defeat the annexation proposition, and an equally active campaign is expected from those opposed to coursing, pool selling and other forms of gambling. The Board of Police Commissioners -has little to do besides consider applications for liquor licenses sinc new license laws went into effect. They had before them yesterday a score or more applications, some of which they granted and others they referred. The payments of the second installment of city taxes have now reached more than $8000 per day and are ex-pected to increase daily. The time for payment without delinquency expires

No new cases of smallpox developed yesterday and no suspected cases were discovered. There have been no new cases for more than a week, and all the patients now under treatment are thought to be recovering.

Under a decision of Judge Allen, rendered in a suit brought by the Stimson Mill Company against F. W. Braun, the defendant will be compelled to pay a second time for a large part of the contract work done in remodeling the Vickery building. The contractors were paid under the contract, but they failed to pay the material men and the claims of the latter are allowed to be good, as the contract is held to be bad.

J. W. Montgomery, as assignor, is suing the Lieutweller Company for S8471 for damages alleged to have been occasioned by two gas engines being defective, and not being up to the standard of the warranty. The first engine was installed to run a stamp mill at Johannesburg, but broke down; then a second and more powerful engine was put in with like result. The delays thus caused are alleged to have deprived the plaintiff of the profits that otherwise would have been made.

ANNEXATION OPPOSED.

DOUBLE QUESTION INVOLVED AT A COMING SPECIAL ELECTION.

Victory for Annexation Would Stop Gambling at Agricultural Park. License Matters Before the Po-Commission-No New Cases of Smallpox-Heavy Tax Collec-

The question of the annexation of the University precinct, which is to be decided at a special election to be held probably May 24, is not the only matter that that election is to determine and there is every prospect of an active campaign before that election for the purpose of defeating if possible the osed annexation. Those who are opposed to it, and they are by no means those who reside in the precinct itself, have been quietly at work for some time to secure votes against it, saying little in the mean time why they are so much interested in the defeat of the annexation proposition. The opposition has already been organized, and it is ready and willing to use money to cure its ends. The annexation is opposed by the dog men interested in coursing, the gam-blers who are interested in pool-selling, and others who at present have a place men interested in coursing, the gamblers who are interested in pool-selling, and others who at present lampet any state of an any state across the city's boundary, and still near enough to the city to secure the art rendance of large crowds. If the art rendance of large crowds in the city shade the wild large crowds. If the art rendance of large crowds in the city was returned without turther deave of absence, as his business demands that it as lease of the part that the leave for San Francisco to be absent over the time for the next meeting. He sught that the leave for San Francisco to be absent over the time for the next meeting. He sught that the leave for San Francisco to be absent over the time for the next meeting. He sught that the leave for San Francisco to be absent over the time for the next meeting. He sught that the cours is a death that prevent their efforts from becoming known, as they feered it would cause a counter campaign to be waged, and that this would result in the victory for the annexation plan and compel them to move to other quarters. It is known that certain persons have been sending out their lieutenants to secure votes, and that some money has been used in that direction.

It had been intended to hold the election for the annexation of the Garvanza district on May 16, and that for the annexation of the University precinct on the following day. These dates were put in an ordinance calling the election, which was presented at the regular meeting of the Council Monday. Owing to the fact that the full list of election officers had not been completed at that time, and as the names of these officers must appear in the ordinance, it had to be returned to the City Attorney, who will insert the names this week if they are given him by the members of the Council. This delay will make it impossible to held the elections on the dates mentioned, and they will probably be postponed for a week. This will give more than a month for the campaign for and against coursing and other such sports at the park.

ELEVEN DAYS MORE.

City Taxes Must Be Paid by a Week

from Monday., When the City Tax and License Collector's office closes on the afternoon of April 24, a week from next Monday, all taxes that have not been paid as the second installment of city taxes will be delinquent and the usual penalty of 10 per cent. Will be added. Thereafter the taxes cannot be paid without the payment of the penalty also. As a result of the approach of the time of delinquency the payments have greatly increased during the last few days. Yesterday more than $8000 was paid into the Tax Collector's office and today's payments are expected to be almost or quite as large. At the beginning of this month there remained uncollected $225,000 of the second installment of taxes, but this has been reduced from day to day until at the close of business yesterday there was less than $180,000 to be collected. The greater portion of this will be paid within the next ten days as stere is always a rush of small taxpayers toward the end of the season for making such the second installment of city taxes within the next ten days as there is always a rush of small taxpayers toward the end of the season for making such payments and the large taxpayers who have use for their money delay making the payments until the last for business reasons, the money being worth to them all that could be secured on it at discount rates. If the proportion of delinquency is no greater this year than last it will be less than $30,000, and much of that will afterward be paid in. From the collections that have been made during the past few days the City Auditor yesterday apportioned among the standing funds of the city the sum of $15,000.

Branch of the Library to Be Opened on Macy Street.

The Board of Library Trustees held a session yesterday afternoon, Presi-dent C. C. Davis of the Board of Education appearing to explain a proposed branch of the library to be operated under the cooperation of the Board of Education and the Board of Library Trustees, to which the old board had given assent. He stated that there were vacant rooms in the Macy street school building, and the school was situated at a point in the city where there were a large number of boys who needed the good influence of a reading-room, while their remoteness from the library made it difficult for them to visit that place-evenings. He suggested that nothing be done in the matter until smallpox is entirely eradicated from the city, although he said that the rooms had already been fitted up for the purpose. Another room, he said, had been fitted up for lecture purposes, and the Board of Education already has arrangements made for about twenty lectures on popular subjects. These are designed to carry educational influences outside of the regular school work, giving adults as well as children the benefit. It is the intention, Mr. Davis said, to make this move in the way of an experiment, with the possibility of carrying it to other parts of the city.

Mrs. Wadleigh was asked her opinion given assent. He stated that there for printing such supplies as will be required during the coming year, the board to have the privilege of accepting any portion of any bid.

The board put in considerable time studying the business methods of the library, with a view to familiarizing themselves with their official duties.

NO CASES, NO SUSPECTS. Continued Improvement in the Smallpox Conditions.

No new cases of smallpox developed yesterday and no suspected cases were discovered which after the investigation were not pronounced something other pected cases than usual were received at the health office yesterday, and Health Officer Powers visited all of them. He found none in such conthem. He found none in such condition as to cause any alarm, most of the cases being simple skin diseases with nothing except the eruptions to liken them to smallpox. The number of cases under treatment remains the same as since Saturday, seven. Two of these will be discharged by the end of the week and three others next week. Two families which have been under quarantine for the past month were released yesterday after another thorough fumigation of their houses and effects.

another took up most of the time of the regular session of the board. At the last meeting of the board Robert Gordan applied for a license to sell liquors in connection with his restaurant. He wanted to make the sales in such a manner that a saloon license would be required, and as the limit of 200 had been reached it was impossible for the commission to grant him a license. Yesterday he appeared with the application for a transfer of the saloon license of H. Merlo at No. 700 San Fernando street to his place of business on Spring street. the application for a transfer of the saloon license of H. Merlo at No. 700 San Fernando street to his place of business on Spring street. He also presented the written consent of property-owners on his block, but because he did not, have in that consent two-thirds of the frontage, the application went over until the next regular meeting of the board.

The matter of the application of John E. Clark for a transfer of a license now held by a brewery, about which there has been considerable trouble, was again brought up. It appears that Clark will not consent to certain conditions which the brewing firm demands as a price of its consent to the transfer, and the owner of the property now occupied by Clark will not lease it to him under the circumstances. The commission finally denied the application for a transfer. This action is peculiar in many ways, and is a direct reversal by the commission of its own declared determination. Clark was one of these who had been cited to appear on account of alleged violation of the Sunday closing crainance, although no case was made out against him. In the course of the investigation it was discovered that he cenducted a saloon on a license held by a brewery employé. The commission had made a rule that it would insist upon all such licenses being transferred to the man who is actually in possession of the saloon. By order of the board. Clark filed his application, but the brewery objected to the transfer and the matter has been considered at several meetings, only to result in a denial of the application. The following applications for restaurant licenses were received and will be acted upon at the next meeting of the board:

Tax and License Collector White officially notified the board that Joe Both, No. 110 North Alameda street; J. Conrad, No. 127 South Main street; Estes & Rollerman, No. 42 South Main street, and C. S. Haeffner, No. 600 South Broadway, have not paid their saloon licenses for April. The old board had a rule that the filing of such a report by the License Collector carried with it a. revocation of the licenses. This board, however, has refrained from taking any such action as is calculated to compel the saloon men to be as careful to pay their city license as they are that due the government. It was therefore, decided to give these saloon men one week in which to make the payment.

At the request of F. W. Wood, general manager of the Los Angeles Railway, James E. Clark was appointed a special policeman to serve without nay from the city. The monthly report of the Chief for March showed that during that month the police had made 345 arrests, which had resulted in 281 convictions in the courts; 36 dismissals: the holding to answer of 15 alleged criminals, and that 13 cases are pending.

Commissioner Scarborough asked for a leave of absence, as his business demands that he leave for San Francisco to be absent over the time for the next meeting. By making the application he escapes a fine which the Commissioners have imposed upon each of their members who is either late at a meeting or absent without leave. Judge Allen Holds That F. W. Braur is Responsible for Claims, Detractors Had Already Received Suits on mechanics' liens are gen ome to trial in the courts, but a case contractors.

In this action of the Stimson Mil Company et al. against F. W. Braun et al., various mechanics' lien claim-ants, who had furnished materials to the contractors for the alteration, coh ants, who had furnished materials to the contractors for the alteration, cohstruction and repair of what has been known as the Vickery Block, on North Main street, sought to foreclose the liens on the ground that the contract between the owners and contractors was void as to them, and upon the further ground that even if a valid contrast, certain payments were prematurely made.

It was shown upon the trial that on July I, 1897, the defendants, as owners of the building, entered into a contract with Patton & Tuttle, contracting builders, by which it was agreed that the contractors were to do all the work included in the removing of the old building, pulling out all interior work of the Vickery building, and furnishing all materials and labor necessary to reconstruct the building, etc., all old material to be the property of the contractors. The contract provided that the sum to be paid by the owners to the contractors should be $12.254, that sum to be made payable in installments. The Code of Civil Procedure, providing for mechanics' liens, provides, in brief, that a contract shall be in writing, and the total amount to be paid, the amounts of partial payments and the dates when they are to be made must all be set out. If all the requirements so defined are not set out, and the contract filed with the County Recorder before work is commenced, it is provided that such contract or contracts shall be wholly void, and in such cases the such contract or contracts shall wholly void, and in such cases labor done and materials furnished

The Jury Remained Out All Day and Hurried at the Last. 'The jury in the case of Jack Nupof, charged with having received stolen property from certain small boys, re-tired to consider their verdict yesterday morning in Department One at half past 10 o'clock. They remained out until half past 3 in the afternoon, and then Judge Smith ordered them sum-moned into court. The foreman represented that an agreement had resented that an agreement had not been reached, but volunteered the statement that he thought the court would do well to pack them back into the jury room until they did agree.

The court was a trifle impatient, and informed the jury that the only question really before them was whether the three boys—all Whittier inmates—had been fully corroborated. Judge the three boys—all Whittier inmates—had been fully corroborated. Judge Smith intimated that there wasn't a great deal of anything to corroborate, and advised the jury to return a verdict of acquittal. There was no further dallying after that piece of clear-cut advice, and a formal verdict of not guilty was returned without further delay.

Holliday had threatened to burn their house down and kill them both off; and the case being remanded by the Supreme Court for retrial, the important point being considered is whether there was any foundation for any such complaint. The plaintiff alleges #callicious prosecution, as there was no probable cause upon which she could be held.

SOME EXPERT TESTIMONY. Further Hearing in Kujaneck's Suit for Damages.

Later on testimony was adduced tending to show that some people are built on such a peculiar plan that sticking pins, needles or knives into their hodies occasions no pain, and inferentially that when Kulaneck was prodded with pins on the side of the body alleged to be paralyzed that fact in itself did not afford positive proof of paralysis. The further hearing will be continued today.

The plaintiff alleges that he was the owner of certain property in the Rudecenda tract, and also a lot in the flown of San Pedro, and in August, 1897, this property was made the basis of an agreement between himself and Mrs. Moore. For some time they had been discussing the advisability of jointly purchasing certain letters patent, and finally determined to do so. It was agreed that the plaintiff should purchase a two-thirds interest, and Mrs. Moore the remaining one-third interest in the patent to manufacture a certain device in New York State. It was furthermore agreed that the defendant was to loan McDermott a sum sufficient to pay for his two-thirds interest, that he was to then go to New York and place the device on the market for sale, and all gains, losses and expenses were to be shared proportion-rally the most interesting of any that has just been decided by Judge Allen that is lifted out of the ordinary run of such cases by the amount of money involved, and the decision that the owner is responsible for a large amoun of money to the men who provided material, even though such amount had previously been paid over to the

such contract or contracts shall be wholly void, and in such cases the labor done and materials furnished by all persons, except the contractor, shall be deemed to have been done and furnished at the personal instance of the owner, and they shall have a lien for the value.

Judge Allen holds, in the opinion he has handed down in the case, that the contract price was not $12,254, but that amount plus whatever the value proved to be of the old material, and that that being so, the real price was not set forth in the contract, nor was the total amount divided into specific payments, for at the time there could be no knowledge of the value of the old material. But even if the contract were not invalidated in that regard, and it were held to be valid, the court holds that the sixth payment of $2000 was prematurely paid, the testimony having shown that a certain amount of a specific kind of lumber called for by the plans was not upon the ground when the payment was made.

After reviewing the facts in the case, the court holds that the contract does violate the sections of the code bearing upon the subject. The sixth payment was made to Parton & Tuetje, but one of these men is now in Artizona and the other is believed to be in British Columbia, and under this decision of the court F. W. Braun et al. will have to pay the aggregated claims of the material men, amounting to about $9000.

The action has been quite keenly contested, Wilson & Bulla representing the plaintiffs and Sheldon Borden. Esq., the defendants, and even now the case cannot be considered as ended, for the condition is so peculiar that it is anticipated that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court.

SHE HEARD SPIRITS.—Mrs. Belle Badgley, who has resided at No. 518 West Eighth street, was examined yesterday on the insanity charge preferred by her sister. The patient has refused to either eat or sleep, became irrational on religious subjects and imagined she saw devils. The present attack began about three weeks ago, and since then Mrs. Badgley has imagined that the house was covered with a thin, web-like vine that was poisonous and threatened her life. When sent to the County Hospital she refused to be parted from a statuette, and she has made it a habit to confer with this image and receive advice from it. Mrs. Cole and Boynton made examination of the patient's case, and determined that she was suffering from alcoholic mania, and upon the recommendation of the medical examiners Judge Allen ordered her committed to Highland. and gave their testimony.

The question of simulation on the part of the plaintiff, which it was anticipated the testimony of the physicians would answer, is still involved in doubt, for in each case the testimony on this point was indeterminate. Dr. Hodge, one of the corporation doctors, was so intent on qualifying every answer on cross-examination that the court finally called him to task. The hypothetical question asked the doctor bore directly upon the possibility of the plaintiff being able in tests of strength to vary the measurement, and or the plaintiff being able in tests of strength to vary the measurement, and whether, if the results were the same each time it would not tend to show that he was not simulating.

Counsel for the defense thought the question unintelligible. The court

ATTORNEY AS AGENT. Mrs. E. H. Andress has begun suit against Attorney D. L. Allen for an accounting. She avers that in January, 1898. she appointed the attorney her agent at his request, to care for her property and business and placed sums of money in his hands for investment that amounted to not less than $5500. Repeated demands have failed to extract any statement from her agent, so the counsel for the defense thought the court hought otherwise, and the witness had o answer. But Dr. Hodge immediately became very scientific and abstruse until reminded by the court hat he was attaching meaning to words that did not belong to them.

"I don't know that you are intending to do it," said Judge Shaw, "but draw attention to the fact that you are doing any statement from her agent, so the plaintiff avers, and she now asks that the court compel the attorney to produce all papers, accounts, etc., and give account of his stewardship. it." The counsel for the defense came to witness' relief again, contending that there was ambiguity about the question, but Judge Shaw thought the question a plain and straightforward one, and instructed the witness to answer.

A MACHINERY CASE. Engines Said to Have Failed to

and the Foos Gas Engine Company to recover $8471 as damages, began yester-lay in Department Four before Judge Trask and a jury.

It is alleged that the defendants in October, 1897, offered to manufacture and sell to the plaintiff, who in the and sell to the plaintiff, who in the present suit is the assignor of the firm of Montgomery, Hicks & Griffin, and they agreed to purchase in Los Angeles at twenty-horse-power Foos gasoline and distillate engine, for $950, to be used in running a stamp mill, operated at Johannesburg. The defendants are alleged to have agreed to pay freight charges to Kramer, and to have warranted the engine to be well made of good material, and to develop twenty-horse power. In accordance with this contract the engine is alleged to have been delivered at Kramer on October 15, 1897, and the plaintiff there took delivery and paid $25 for freighting it on to Johannesburg. In December, it is averred, the engine was started and run until February 18, when it broke down, and the plaintiffs offered to return it to the defendant firm that had made the sale. An agreement was then entered into that the defendants would receive back the engine, and upon payment of the difference in cost, a twenty-five-horse power engine would be supplied in its stead. On the 12th of March, it is averred, the second engine was delivered, and thereupon the plaintiffs returned the first engine and paid over $150, the difference between the value of the two engines. After being installed the second engine worked all right until May 21, when, as testified to yesterday, the first accident was duplicated and the fly-wheel and part of the engine-house. It is claimed by the plaintiffs that the break the second time occurred in the same place as in the case of the smaller engine. present suit is the assignor of the firm

The plaintiff avers that the defendant represented to him that the patent could not be purchased for less than $1500, and to conceal the actual amount, caused the deed to be made by the owners. W. L. Johnson and J. J. O'Brien, directly to Mrs. Moore, when the actual amount paid over was only $1000. At the time, however, McDermott avers he knew nothing of what had been done and received from Mrs. Moore his deed to a two-thirds share in the patent, and on August 5, 1897, transferred his real estate over to her as security for $1000, the amount of his interest. He then proceeded to New York and expended $113 in attempting to dispose of the patent rights there. In the meantime the property in the Rudecenda tract was sold for $680, of which it is alleged Mrs. Moore received $600, and the plaintiff alleges that he discovered also that the amount paid for the natent right in the first instance to the patent right in the first instance the situated action to have the court declare his transfer of property vold, and to recover judgment for $1313.

John O. Wheeler, a pioneer and one of the earliest newspaper publishers in this city, died at Redondo yesterday of old age, being in the neighborhood of 80 years old. He had been in poor health for the past year, and some days ago was obliged to take to his bed, failing steadily until the end came. Three daughters survive him, Mrs William Pridham of Los Angeles, Mrs

William Pridham of Los Angeles, Mrs. Clay Greene of New York and Mrs. F. H. McCormick of Alameda.

Mr. Wheeler left Florida for California in 1849, reaching this State the next year after a trip across the plains. In 1854 he published the Southern Californian in this city. It was a weekly paper, containing the news in the English and Spanish languages. For many years he ranked among the leading citizens of Southern California, until age forced him into a more quiet life. Those who knew him in his earlier life speak in high praise of his ability and his genial qualities.

The remains will be brought to Los Angeles Thursday, and the-funeral services will be held at the pariors of Bresee Brothers, after which the remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment.

Mrs. E. H. Moore was the hostess yesterday afternoon at a charming luncheon party given at her home on West Twenty-third street, in honor of Mrs. Walter P. Stevens of Santa Rosa, Mrs. Walter P. Stevens of Santa Rosa, who leaves this week for her northern home. It was an Easter luncheon, and the decorations were suggestive of the day. The decorations in the front parlor were carried out in red, white and green. Easter lilles, Marie Henrietta roses, ferns, palms and asparagus ferns were used in great profusion; the back parlor was decorated with wisteria, lilacs and smilax. The decorations in the dining-room were exceptionally beautiful. In the center of the table rested a large cut-glass bowl of white carnations and asparagus ferns, supported by an oval-shaped mirror. The mantel and buffet were banked high with carnations and ferns, and the effect was carried out in white and green. The place cards were eggshaped bon-bon boxes filled with confections. An elaborate menu was served under the direction of R ynoids. Following a luncheon the guests were entertained with a guessing game. A handsome gold Easter spoon was the prize. The scores resulted in a tie between Mrs. Posey and Mrs. Stevens, who were obliged to cut, the latter proving herself the lucky individual. Those present were Mmes. Oliver P. Posey, O. H. group of three copper claims for $150, 2000 to an English syndicate. In a letter received Mrs. Lightfoot also reports having sold gold properties in the northern part of this State for a still greater sum. Mrs. Lightfoot has had for some time the management of her brother's property in the Iron-wood Mining district, Riverside county, where these copper properties are located. The plans of the new owners of the Homestake group are said to include the establishment of a smelter that is to crush 300 tons of ore a day. SOUTH BISBEE COPPER MINES.

T. E. Rowan and H. W. Lewis of the South Bisbee Copper Mining Company of Arizona, returned to Los Angeles at Sonth Bisbee, They spent a week at the mines and report everything in conection with them in a very satisfactory condition. The main double-compartment shaft is now down the largest copper camp in this southwestern region, having a population of over 5000.

Besides the Governor-General and his official family, the Yosemite will carry agarrison of 125 marines under Maj. A.

They spent a week at the mines and report everything in coneccion with them in a very satisfactory condition. The main double-compartment shaft is now down 580 feet and work on it is being actively pushed forward. Bisbee is now the largest copper camp in this southwestern region, having a population of over 5000.

THE TENNESSEE MINE.

In a report of the workings at the Tennessee mine, in the Chloride district. Arizona, the Kingman Miner says: "It is no idle remark to make that the Tennessee mine is now in the midst of the largest and richest body of ore that that phenomenal ore producer has ever encountered. The three shifts of men now engaged at work on the 250-foot main working shaft are in rich ore on all sides, and there is no end to speculation as to what they will encounter in the next few weeks' work." The number of men employed is being increased and the force is now the largest ever employed at the mine. ee mine, in the Chloride dis

THE MERCUR'S OUTPUT,
The Salt Lake Trubune says the output of Capt. De la Mar's Mercur mines is to be increased to 900 tons daily, and the enlargement of the roasting plant has been begun. The present output is 600 tons daily, and to roast this quantity of ore six gigantic furnaces are required. With the addition to the plant the Mercur's output-will be one of the largest of any mine in the world.

BONDED THE REN, ARIZONA.

The Arizona Republican says that Capt. J. D. Burgess has bonded the well-known Rex mine, near Florence, Ariz., to some English capitalists. The Republican describes the Rex as "an excellent copper industry, containing an eighty-foot ledge. The ore is high grade and strips in the vein of from five to eight feet run 22 per cent. The expense 'of operating the mine could be lessened on account of the proximityof the Gila River, which could furnish water power." BONDED THE REX, ARIZONA.

PARADISE MOUNTAINS.

Reports from Paradise Mountains on the Mojave Desert, Cal., are encouraging. The San Bernardino Transcript prints news of mining operations in that region brought in by Tom Williams and Messrs. Brownell and Stiles. The Transcript says: "For the past few months they have been actively engaged in developing the Dream and Guardian claims, which promise to turn out some very rich ore. There are some rich mines within a small radius in the Paradise Mountains. Not over half a mile from the Dream and Guardian are the claims of Hippolite Galerone, in which a number of San Bernardino people are interested. The Galerone party are hard at work on their claims. They are now down thirty-five feet on the Ontario claim, and the ore is improving at every stroke of the pick. They have taken a large amount of ore from the Klondike claim and are having it hauled to the mill."

BOSTON INVESTING IN LEAD

BOSTON INVESTING IN LEAD MINES.

The Spokesman Review of Spokane, Wash., says a deal has been consummated in that city which will introduce Boston capital into the lead district of the Slocan, British Columbia. The Arlington mine has been purchased by Boston capitalists, who intend developing it to its fullest extent. It has been owned for about two years by a Spokane company, which was organized by Frank Watson. The property comprises the Arlington and Burlington claims, and was located by Robert Cooper and C. E. Fielding, who have ever since retained interests in it. In 1896 John A. Finch had the group under bond and did considerable work upon it without finding the main lead, his tunnel, as subsequent development proved, having been run in the wrong direction. Later the mine lay idle for many months until Frank Watson came along, and, after looking it over, concluded that it was one of the richest showings he had ever seen, and took about on of the formation of the Spokane company.

The colony at Fargo, with additions from the immigration, is destined to number about 150. The decrees are being issued in the courts of the Third Judicial District at the rate of three a day. The colony at Mandan, across the river from Bismarck, is nearly as large, owing to the favorable complexion of the courts, and the divorcees have also flocked to Grand Forks and Jamestown.

Dear Doctors:—I have waited this long before writing to make sure that my cure was permanent, and I have every reason to believe that it is permanent. The sickly, yellow look has been replaced by a healthy complexion and rosy cheeks. I no longer have that nervousness and I feel more energetic. It has been now about eight weeks since I took the last dose of Hudyan and I feel just fine yet, so I know that I am cured. If I were able, I would just as soon send you ten times the amount that your Hudyan cost me. I can and will speak many a good word in favor of your remarkable medicine. I am gratefully,

Young Man Brace Up

Can't you see that this drain which is going on is sapping your life away? It will make a wreck of you. It is taking the sweetness out of your life, exposing your naked self, and throwing a shadow over your future. Even if you do not feel over your future and that you have is to the young man with strong, healthy nerves! Ambition is evident in every glance of his bright eyes. Courage, confidence, fearlessness is expressed in every action. Men envy him; women admire him. He is a man!

Come, brace up; stop this loss now and get back all your old-time vim. Show the world and the men in it that you have the stuff in you. Bring it out. For twenty years I have applied Electricity in cases like yours, and I have been successful. I know how to use the great life force; that is why I cure. 10,000 men say I cured them. My success has led others to make Electric Belts, but no Belt is of any real value unless the user understands it and gets the right instructions. That is why those Belts sold in drug stores always fail. The druggist knows nothing of its proper use, and would not try to help his patient if he did. He has drugs to sell, upon which he makes more money. My DR. SAN-DEN ELECTRIC BELT is never sold in drug stores.

SNAKES!

From Los Angeles Times, Tuesday, April 11, 1899. GREAT SNAKES.

They Wriggle Through the Water Pipes on Flower Street.

Pipes on Flower Street.

People who drink ordinary city water are liable to have snakes—real serpents that writhe and glide and are full of life. They are in the pipes, and come out with the sparkling fluid when it is drawn, as fishes sometimes do in the coast cities. G. S. Johnson, who lives at No. 823 Flower street, caught one of the ugly things fourteen inches in length, and others eight or nine inches long have been found. The one which Johnson captured has been preserved in a bottle, and srepulsive enough in appearance to deter almost any one from indulging in the water habit, at least without first making a close examination of the draught. His snakeship is brown in color, a trifle over one-sixteenth of an inch thick and slimy and smooth, as such reptiles usually are. The body is about the same diameter from one end to the other, but the tail is pointed. The head is not clearly defined, but resombles an elephant's tusk in a general may. but none have ventured a scientific description or classification.

Whether the slippery creature would live and grow in the human stomach is a question, and the result, too, is a matter of conjecture, but nobody with a desire to swallow one has been found, and theorists will probably be sleft to settle the points mentioned. Needless to say, water drawn from the city pipes should be looked at before it is imbibed, and doubtless will be by all who read of this unpleasant discovery. Johnson states that the water in the pipes at his residence has been so thick for months that it would not run through two thicknesses of ordinary sheeting. Whether this is due to snakes or worms is not known.

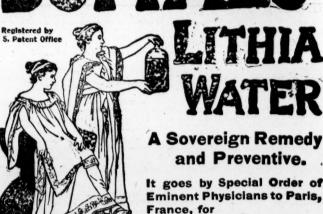

There is no occasion for alarm, for in many cities far worse things than this have been found circulating through the water mains, frogs, lizards, turtles, water beetles.

ARIZONA'S REVENUES.

OV. MURPHY WAXES WARM THE SUBJECT.

an Equitable Division of the Burdens of Taxation-How the men are Favored.

PHOENIX (Ariz.,) April 9.-[Regular Correspondence.] In the last Legislature of Arizona the great struggle of the session was over measures that demanded equalization of taxation and especially the taxation of mines. But there were thirteen men in the Assembly, one more than one-half the mem-bership, who steadily voted down any bills that sought that end. Some o these members were from large mining communities, where they were emloyed by the great tions. The failure to pass any of the suggested laws surprised no one-Legislatures for the past eighteen years have been controlled by the self-sam "arguments" whenever a bullion tax bill cropped out. And the Arizona asked upon time loans in eastern cities. Such condition is ruinous to the prog-ress and development of the country; it is mieleading and vicious; capital is driven away and investors naturally avoid communities the affairs of which are poorly managed financially. No justification can be found for plain official dereliction of this kind, for there is more than enough assessable property to supply all necessary revenues, and at a low rate of taxation if properly assessed. Some localities attempt to excuse themselves with the argument that if they increase values and the amount of taxable property, they will be required to pay more than their proper share of the Territorial obligations. This excuse can only be based upon the assumed misgovernment of other communities; such a pretense of justifying official negligence is unworthy and reprehensible. The public credit should be held more significant of the redit of the public credit should be held more significant involving personal honor. The income for Territorial purposes, under present conditions, is not sufficient for the needs of government, and the annual shortage amounts, approximately, to the interest paid upon the floating debt evidenced by outstanding Territorial war. est paid upon the floating debt evi-denced by outstanding Territorial warrants.

"It is reasonable to suppose that the "It is reasonable to suppose that the floating debt will amount to $200,000 by the end of the current biennial period. This old debt should be wiped out; it hangs like a destroying incubus, menacing the present and future interests of all the people, and after the debt is paid sufficient taxes should be levied and collected annually to maintain the Territorial government and our public institutions upon a cash basis."

The cattle men of the Territory are deemed deserving of a special chapter. In treating of personal property assess-

And the Arizona farmes and derehant continue to bear a farmes and derehant continue to bear a farmes and derehant continue to bear and the property of the property of all the people, and after the debt is pade under taxes should be levelable to the property of the prop plained his opposition to the bill." writes Murphy, "by saying that he did not propose to support a bill to tax the people and put the Territory on a cash basis, because by so doing he would be strengthening a-Republican administration." The "prominent member" of whom this is told is reported to have been President Morris Goldwater of the Council, the same individual responsible for the "rider" on the appropriation bill, cutting off all support to the Arizona National Guard.

The message to the people is concluded in the following words:
"A simple and effective cure for our financial troubles can be prescribed in a few words: Elect a Legislature composed of representative citizens, who have ability, courage and integrity to so change the revenue laws as to make the great mines of the Territory, taxable railroads, and rich corporations contribuse proportionately with other property to—the maintenance of government: pay off the floating debt and stop the absurd practice of paying interest on the money with which we support our public institutions; properly assess and collect taxes, and officially conduct the affairs of the Territory in an economic and businesslike manner and Arizona will of the Territory in an economic and businesslike manner and Arizona will surpass any of her neighbors in awaith and business prosperity, and it will not be necessary to heavily tax any industry. The tax upon producing mines, and all over the Territory, in connection with a full assessment and valuation of other property, would be so slight that it would not be felt by the owners. It is not as though the property were not here to tax. Arizona is fabulously rich. Common-sense business methods only are necessary in the conduct of public affairs to insure prosperity and happiness and all taxes will be decreased.

REDLANDS WATER

Best Orchards Will not Suffer This

It is generally understood that Redlands is the one locality which is in the worst condition at present from an irrigation point of view, as its de-pendence is almost wholly on im-pounded water, which has been very completely exhausted during the se-ries of comparatively dry years. J. M. pounded water, winch has been very completely exhausted during the series of comparatively dry years. J. M. Glass, engineer in charge of the Bear Valley Company's plant, was in town yesterday and was questioned in regard to the condition of the Bear Valley reservoir. He said there is less water in sight than last year, though there is something like a half supply. The various distributing companies, which are supplied by the Bear Valley Company, are engaged in developing water from various sources, and Mr. Glass said that while some of the least productive orchards might be allowed to suffer, those which are producing good revenue will represent sufficient value to guarantee the purchase or development of water, and thus the law of the survival of the fittest will be invoked. In Redands as in other localities there are some orchards so calities there are some orchards so neglected that further neglect, even to loss of the trees, would real sent no loss in productivity.

PROSPEROUS TIMES. The doubling of the revenue tax on ber did not decrease the consumption of that beverage last year. The sales increased to the enormous extent of over 3,000,000 barrels, an increase of about one and one-half gallons per capita in the country's beer consumption. Although the internal revenue tax on whisky was not increased, there was an increase of $7,000,000 in the government's collection from this source. This ballgence in beverages is no doubt to be traced to the larger earning capacity of the people. The same, or a like increase, prevails in the use of the necessaries of life, and in all luxuries.

EASTERN MOLASSES MARKET.

EASTERN MOLASSES MARKET.
The demand for molasses, says the New England Grocer, is as active at present as it has been for several weeks past. Indeed, neither the spot supply nor that in sight is anywhere equal to the demand. Both foreign and domestic, that is, Porto Rico and Cuba, and Louisana are scarce and high, and the few arrivals that come to hand are eagerly snapped up by the trade who are badly in need of supplies. So great is the scarcity and so active is the competition of buyers that the market has steadily advanced and we expect it to go higher before the next crop comes in.

At present, the market is practically bare, not only in Beston, but in nearly the whole country. There are practically no cargoes now on the way.

With Porto Rico molasses scarce and the plantations of Cuba in a crippled condition, resultant from the late war, and likely to remain so for some time to come, the outlook for the molasses market is a continued scarcity and firmness: for the supply is fast being depleted. EASTERN MOLASSES MARKET

Wheat has fluctuated in response to contradictory rumors from the spring wheat States. On the whole the price situation remains favorable along the list of staples, while trade measures, as shank clearing statistics, railroad earnings, etc., are most encouraging. In our immediate district the past month has made a complete change in the outlook for farmers and horticulturists. A good rainfall in the low-lands and heavy-snows in the mountains removed the threatening dangers of a dry year. From all sections come satisfying reports. A good crop of hay and farm produce generally is assured, and a fair crop of barley over an unusually large acreage. Fruit buds are setting well and indications point to a fairly full crop. Eastern fruit men prophesy a lively demand and good prices, owing to ravages of late frosts in eastern and southern States. The acreage seeded to sugar beets will probably reach double-that of any other year. There will be a good crop of beans, but owing to the holding off of the rain some of the bean land had been seeded to grain. There is great activity in the peat lands, with anticipation of the greatest year known.

Citrus-fruit shipments still continue. Market conditions are still favorable, with some advance in the good prices that have been ruling. Navels are scarce.

that have been ruling. Navels are scarce.

The adjustment of the raisin situation by agreement of packers and growers gives general satisfaction. The full crop of raisins for 1899, it is thought will not exceed 3000 carloads. Another encouragement for the vineyardist lies in the decided increase in demand for California wines. To provide for this year's anticipated demand three additional wineries of large capacity are to be built at once in the sweet wine district.

Rancher Saved by Hrenking of a Wagon Tongue.

ANAHEIM, April 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] W. R. Phelps was thrown from a load of hay at the West End this morning by his team shying. He fell between the frightened horses and the wagon. By a wonderful chance the pole of the wagon broke at the same moment that Phelps fell. The end fast to the wagon dropped down and stuck in the ground, stopping the team, and doubtless thus saving the life of the man, whose head lay dreetly in line with a wheel of the heavily-loaded vehicle.

Prospects for an early and immense apricot yield continue to improve. Trees are laden and the fruit is coming on very rapidly. Some growers now expect to be able to deliver as early as the 15th or 16th of next month. The canning factory is consequently hurrying forward its arrangements for opening. A force of carpenters is at work making advance preparations for the addition to be built, and when they commence it will be able to hurry it to a speedy completion. So far frosts have done no damage to fruit, and the period of danger will be at an end in a few days.

WHITTER.
WHITTIER, April 10. — [Regular ,Correspondence.] The gas well on the Myers farm south of town is attracting a great many people to that place. Sunday there were a great many people and teams inside the field or inclosure. The Frenchman in charge of the well and grounds concluded to commence reaping returns on the new industry, and closed the gate and demanded $1 of all who had teams inside the inclosure. This did not suit some of the sightseers, and in the fracas following Mr. Woodhead was very roughly used, losing considerable blood.

An interesting game of baseball was played here on Saturday between the Fullerton and Whittler teams, resulting in favor of the home team; score, 15 to 5.

Government Engineer Burton Come to Superintend Harbor Work.

SAN PEDRO, April 11. — [Regular Correspondence.] H. H. Burton has come to take charge of the engineering work in consection with the construction of the breakwater. Mr. Burton is acting under Capt. J. J. Meyler, the government, engineer, who recently established quarters in Los Angeles. Until recently Mr. Burton was stationed at San Diego and was in charge of the work at Ballast Point. It is intended to lay out the necessary lines so that the contractors may know where to dump the first barge of rock on Jubilee day, April 26. The giving of locations on water is much more difficult than on land, and the methods must in many cases be changed to suit local conditions as to currents and other things. The plans for fixing the locations, as now formed, may be modified if it be found necessary to do so. It is probable that three piles will be driven near where the westerly end of the breakwater is to be. It is planned to drive one pile at precisely the spot where the end is to be. Two other piles are to be driven near it, and with those points permanently established, the points marking the various locations in the breakwater may be readily fixed. The westerly end of the breakwater may be located from land, its position being determined with ranges on shore. After locating the end of the breakwater it will be needful to locate the outer bottom lines of the rock work. In shallow water these lines will approach each other and in deeper water they will be further apart, in order to afford sufficient width of base to give the wall ample with higher up. What is thought to be one of the most feasible methods of making the outer deges of the breakwater is a system of spar buoys attached to anchors accurately placed on the lines. From each anchor a spar of sufficient length to extend above high water is set. The lower end of the spar is attached to the anchor, but in such a way that it may swing easily. Whenever by a current or otherwise the spar is made to lean over from a perpendicular position

spondene.] Following the purchase of the Santa Ana and Newport Railroad, which extends from this city via Newport beach to a point in the peat lands a few miles

tion that the road is now to be extended through the town of Westminster and on to the Alamitos beet-sugar factory.

Manager Holabird of Los Angeles was in Santa Ana today, and stated that a surveying party, in charge of Capt. S. H. Monday on a line from the present terminus of the road in the peat lands to the beet-sugar factory at Los Alamitos, and that barring a small matter yet to be arranged in the town of Westminster, the road would be completed to the factory in a very short time. "In fact, it will be anyway," said the manager, and in answer to the question as to whether the road would be completed in time to handle the output of the factory this year, he answered that the beet season would be a little late this year; that it would probably be the middle of July before they would be in the midst of it, and that the extension would certainly be completed before that time. The exension of his road will be made through the most fertile portion of Orange county, and it will no doubt result in great good to that section of the Santa Ana Vailey. The residents of Westminster and vicinity have been working for the past fifteen years to secure a railroad, and at last their nopes are to be realized in the extension of the Santa Ana a Newport line.

These services have of the Nazarine by Rev. H. Buffum, known has the "boy preacher." These services have been in progress for about two weeks, but it is only within a few days that they have begun to be sensational. For several nights past the meetings have been held later and later, until last night the services continued all night, it being about 6 a.m. when the last person left the church. The revival has been conducted with much emphasis by Mr. Buffum, the shouting being in so great fervor as to cause complaints from residents of the neighborhood that they were awakened at all hours of the night by the usemaly noise. But the feature of last night's emeting was the prostration of four young girls and Mr. Buffum in so-called trances, in which they lay during the latter part of the night. The greatest sympathy seemed to be felt for Rev. Huffum, as several of the young ladies kept up a constant rubbing of his hands and head in an effort revive him, while the young ladies had but one or two young ment to hold their hands.

That young girls should remain all night at a meeting of this kind has caused a great deal of comment in this city, but as it is done in the name of religion, no steps have been taken to stop the proceedings.

MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENT.

The people of this city have awakened to the fact that they should be making some advancement, and last night at the Town-Hall a large and enthusiastic meeting of citizens, merchants and property-owners was held. Mayor J. S. Collins presided, and Ed M. Sheridan acted as secretary. The meeting was spirited, and all admitted that something should be done, and that whatever it was should be commenced at once. The following committee was appointed to outline plans and report to the citizens at their next meeting, which will be held at the Town Hall next Monday night: W. N. Barnes, George C. Power, E. S. Hall, A. L. Chaffee and James S. Blackstock.

In all probabilities the result will be an organization of the residents, merchants and property-owners for the purpose of relegating the mossbacks to the rear and to commence the improvement of the city.

Bold Cattle-thief Caught—Portugese Men-of-War.

SANTA BARBARA, April 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] A man named Francisco Cota was arrested here this morning for what seems to be one of the boldest cases of cattle stealing on record. Saturday night he brought a fine looking cow to Sherman & Ealand's butcher shop, which he offered for sale. A bargain was struck for $21.19 and nothing was thought of the affair. Meantime a complaint was sent in by Mr. McKnight, who lives at Haley and Milpas streets, that his family cow was gone and suspicion was directed toward Cota. As Cota had promised to deliver another cow this morning the officers simply waited for him until he came in with a fine, fat milk cow. When arrested, Cota admitted to have stolen the latter from G. R. Dugan, who lives in the Oak Park suburb. Cota is now in jail.

The "Independents" elected their nominees for City Trustees, and the Republicans gained control of the Board of Education. The total vote is about one hundred larger than that of two years ago. When these are diseased, the whole health suffers. The nerves are affected, and the result is sleeplesaness and restlessness. The functions of the stomach are disturbed and the body suffers from lack of nutrition. Offensive drains sap the strength and undermine the constitution, while female weakness and ulceration and inflammation afflict the mind as well as affect the body.

The action of "Favorite Prescription" is such that all the delicate and sensitive womanly organs are promptly helped and surely healed. Debilitating drains are dried up, inflammation and ufceration healed, female weakness cured and the whole of the organs peculiarly feminine are given vigor male weakness cured and the whole of the organs peculiarly feminine are given vigor and elasticity. As a result of this the baby's coming is not dreaded, and its advent entails no trial beyond the natural strength. When local health is thus established, the causes of the hollow cheek, dull eye, and thin form are taken away. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter lithest the strength of the consult Dr.

There are doubtless women, worn out, broken down, crushed by the duties of wifehood and motherhood who would gladly trade all these years of suffering and pain for the few joyous months, that followed marriage, and then, like the Duchess May, smile at the dark leap, with the arms of the man she loved close-clasping her.

Every wife, every mother is a heroine, is there no courage in putting that little hand into yours, and forsaking father and mother for your sake. Is there no heroine in assuming the responsibility and risk of motherhood?

It is doubly heroic, when the young woman can look around her and see what loss smarriage so often entails, loss of health, of figure, of complexion, of strength.

The best recognition that can be given to the heroism of women is that which mipmizes its perils and smooths the path of duty as much as is possible. It's a very beautiful thing to have a meanment setting forth the virtues of the wife, and mother, with a weeping husband hanging wreaths about it. But it is a very med more beautiful thing to be a happy healthy woman and a "joyful" mother of children. The crown of motherhood ought not to be a crown of martyrdom.

The most practical recognition of the worth of woman, her courage, her suffering and her needs, is to be found in that "Godssend to women," Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. What Trarieux Sald of Count Tor-

EARLY MORNING REPORT.1 PARIS, April 11.-[By Atlantic Ca-de.] The Eclaire this morning pubishes the deposition of Senator Trarieux made before the Court of Cassa-tion in the Dreyfus revision of the proceedings, in the course of which M. Trarieux said that Count Tornielli Brusati Di Vergane, the Italian Am-Brusati Di Vergane, the Italian Ambassador to France, told when the Matin printed a facsimile of the bordereau that it was a flashlight reproduction, that the documents mentioned had been given by a German attaché by another person than M. Drevfus, and the handwriting of the bordereau was that of the officer who gave the documents to the attaché, Comparison, he said, would be easy, as the attaché possesses voluminous correspondence of that officer.

Count Tornielli further told him that an attaché of the Italian embassy showed him (the Ambassador) a letter of the German attaché stating this, and asserting that he did not know Dreyfus, and attributing to Count Esterhazy the act for which the courtmartial has wrongly found Dreyfus guilty.

Symmes on the Warpath.

A youth named Bert Symmes went on the warpath yesterday afternoon with a gun because he understood that his mother was not deporting herself properly. It was his mother's alleged-lover that Symmes was after with the gun. He was disarmed by a cautious citizen, however, before he could do any harm. The patrol wagon was sent for, and young Symmes, who was quite drunk, was taken to the City Jail. In attempting to escape from custody before the wagon arrived. Symmes ran his hand through a pane of glass and cut his wrist quite badly. with a gun because he understood that
